NOTES ON NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE forest fires of Montana have been extinguished by a heavy fall of snow. The depth of the snow is from four to six inches in some portions of the state. Though out of season it is accepted with thanks.

As was expected, a majority of Democratic votes was cast in the third Louisiana district yesterday, and Price will receive the certificate of election. But this does not end the matter. Minor will contest, and Congress will investigate.

THE London dock companies declare that they will not concede an inch to the strikers. And all the latter ask is sixpence or about 12 cents an hour and four hours for a day's work. Are American workmen crying for English free trade? If so they will please apply to the Democratic party.

DEMOCRATIC editors have sent to press the information that Hon. Warner Miller is not going to attend the Republican state convention. No Republican newspaper has the news. And it is not known that Mr. Miller is in the habit of getting mad at his own party and peddling to Democratic newspapers his plans for snubbing it. There must be a mistake somewhere.

JOHN MCCONNELL, the New-York snake charmer who received his seventh bite from a rattler last Monday, is recovering. He drank whisky almost incessantly Monday evening, and yesterday he found the pain nearly all gone but his stomach weak. He says he has had less trouble with this bite than with any other. The human system appears to be able to adapt itself to almost any deadly agency, electricity and rattlesnakes for example.

GEN. JOHN M. LANGSTON has declared in a letter his determination to support Mahone in the Virginia campaign. Langston, who was cheated out of his election to Congress last fall, has been supposed by the Democrats to be disgruntled, and on his defection as the leader of the colored Republican forces were based all their hopes of carrying the state. Langston's letter is worth 5,000 votes to the Republican ticket.

THE State Board of Equalization began its session in Albany yesterday. The report of the State Assessors shows the valuation of real estate to be $3,213,171,201, and of personal $354,258,556, total $3,567,429,757. This is an increase of real $91,066,807, and of personal $7,646,695. The assessors find that Ulster county is assessed 71 per cent and New York 60. The highest assessment is that of Cattaraugus county, 95 per cent, and the lowest Clinton and Richmond, 50 per cent.

THE real Democratic state convention is in session at Rochester to-day. It is made up exclusively of men opposed to "inequitable and oppressive sumptuary legislation," and is euphemistically labeled the "Liquor Dealers' Convention." But its wishes will be conveyed in a quiet manner to David B. Hill, and he will deliver them in the form of commands to the convention that is to meet at Syracuse on the 1st of October. All the real work of the Syracuse convention will be performed at Rochester before the anti-sumptuarians depart.

SHERIFF CHILDS and two deputies are on their way to New York from Mississippi with warrants for Muldoon, Cleary, Donovan, Stevenson, Johnston and other participants in the arrangements for the Sullivan-Kilrain prize fight. These worthies have all gathered in New York under the protecting wing of Gov. Hill. Since his accusation of bad faith against Gov. Lowry for permitting a sentence of imprisonment against Sullivan after promising to let him off on a light fine, it is believed that Mr. Hill will never honor another requisition paper from Mr. Lowry. Besides it is getting too close to election to allow this powerful Democratic band to depart now.

THE Treasury surplus is down to $43,489,909. Last fall it was $104,000,000. The government has reduced it by purchasing bonds, thus reducing the principal of the interest bearing debt. The monthly debt statement shows a reduction of $3,349,350 in 4½ per cents and $12,940,100 in 4 per cents. This is real debt payment. The debt less cash in the treasury was increased $6,076,693, but this increase is made up wholly of new issues of gold and silver certificates. There was a heavy draft for pensions, caused partly by the early exhaustion of last year's appropriation and the stoppage of payments until the fund for the present year could be drawn upon. The total debt is $1,645,826,163; the debt less cash in the treasury is $1,083,740,626.

THERE is a sort of parallel between the case of Sheriff Flack, whom Gov. Hill declines to remove, and that of Sim Coy of the Indianapolis Common Council. Coy was convicted of election frauds as a city official and sent to prison. The Council was Democratic, and the majority had not the necessary hardness of heart to repudiate the man who had sacrificed himself in the useful and important work of extinguishing Republican majorities. So, while he served the state at hard labor, he also continued to serve the city by keeping vacant a seat that might otherwise go to a Republican. He did not resign, neither was he expelled. His term in prison expired before that in the Common Council, and on the very night following his release, he appeared in his old place, and received a right royal welcome from his official associates, many of whom regarded him as having "done time" for them in a vicarious way. Coy lately received a renomination from his party, and will do his utmost to get himself re-elected as a vindication. And why should he not? The criminal classes that make up a large proportion of the Democratic party have a right to elect their own representative men if they have the votes. They sent John Morrissey to Congress, and returned Tweed to the Senate while he was under indictment. And as for Flack, he appears to be in a position to render greater service to Gov. Hill than if he had never been guilty of a crime. He is, in fact, keeping the Sheriff's office open till Hill calls for it, just as Coy kept the office of Councilman closed against the intrusion of a Republican.

GENERAL TELEGRAPH NEWS

THE LIQUOR DEALERS IN COUNCIL.

Annual Report is Complimentary to Governor Hill and His Vetoes.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

ROCHESTER, Sept. 4.—The Seventh Annual Convention of the New-York State Wine, Liquor and Beer Dealers' Association opened at noon to-day in Maennerchor Hall, President B. T. Kearns, of New-York, in the chair. The attendance is large, fully 800 delegates being present, representing the leading cities in the State. Mayor Parsons delivered a complimentary address of welcome. The annual report of the officers recites that "there is a larger membership, a greater balance in the treasury and a better showing in every respect than ever before; that so conservative has the management been that for two consecutive years no assessment or call of any nature has been made; that unjustly discriminating bills were constantly introduced in our Legislature, the past year and the wishes of the majority of the people ignored by the dominant party, and measures were rushed through and placed before the Chief Executive that no fair-minded man could consistently approve; a summary of the bills includes the Excise Commission bill, the Curtis High License bill and the Vedder State and County Tax bill; that necessary bills were introduced from time to time, with a view of abrogating some of the sumptuary laws that are now on the statute books, but the law-makers, or a majority of them, failed to give the relief needed, and quickly buried any measure having a tendency to relieve us of some of our burdens." The report concludes: "With the purpose of making our Association a truly representative one, and embracing within its Councils and ranks each and every portion of our Empire State, your Executive Committee drafted an address, known as the 'Pink' Circular, and after an enormous amount of labor succeeded in obtaining the addresses of all those engaged in our traffic and its allied and kindred trade interests throughout the State, and caused a copy of such circulars to be forwarded to such address. The beneficent results of the effort is already made apparent by the increase in the number of new Associations formed." The report is signed by the President, Vice-Presidents, Secretary, Treasurer and all of the Executive Committee.

THE LIQUOR DEALERS' ALLIES.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 4.—The Prohibition State Convention opened at Shakespeare Hall this morning with a prayer meeting, presided over by E. P. Ide, of Brooklyn. There is a fair attendance of delegates, many of whom are ladies. Around the hall are hung the mottoes "Save the Boys," "For God and Home and Native Land," "Our Name and Our Watchword—Protection," "In God We Trust." The location of the delegations in the body of the hall was marked by fans bearing the name of the counties on Japanese fans, affixed to rods.

Promptly at 11 o'clock, Frederick F. Wheeler, Chairman of the State Committee, called the Convention to order. The Silver Lake Quartette sang a selection and the Rev. Dr. Dunham, of Oneida, offered prayer. The quartette sang another selection and Professor A. A. Hopkins, of Rochester, was nominatad as Temporary Chairman. In the course of his speech he said, the Democratic party was as much the party of liquor as it ever was, and the Republican party more so, while the Prohibitionists were more than ever determined to continue. He arraigned the Republicans for what they had done, and what they had not done. There was to be no compromise, it was a war of annihilation. "The time has come," he said, "When the Prohibitionists can ask for the out-lawry of the liquor traffic, just as we did for slavery. Give the nominees of this Convention 50,000 votes and we will revolutionize the politics of this country within the next 10 years." Joseph A. Bogardus of New-York and W. E. Werner of Johnstown, were chosen Temporary Secretaries.

Committees on Permanent Organization and Credentials were appointed.

NEW DANGER TO VESTIBULE TRAINS.

Coach Roofs Catch Fire Through Friction Which Wore Off Rubber Casing.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 4.—The limited train from the East was 31 minutes late last night, on account of one of the most unexpected, as well as surprising, accidents which has happened since the vestibule train has been started. Between Philadelphia and Harrisburg the roofs of the two forward coaches caught fire through friction which wore off the rubber casing and got the steel plates red hot. The fire was easily extinguished at Harrisburg. A meeting of the railroad officials will be held within a few days to devise some means of avoiding this new danger to vestibule trains.

A Mystery to Surgeons.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., Sept. 4.—Frank Havens, aged 38, dropped dead last evening. A post-mortem disclosed an abnormal arrangement of the vital organs. The heart was on the right side. A coagula, amounting to about two quarts of blood, surrounded the heart. The liver was on the left side of the abdomen and the stomach on the right. The lungs were only one-third the normal size and were pressed upward. How the man could have lived any length of time after birth seems a mystery to the surgeons.

British Sailors Harshly Treated.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 4.—The British man-of-war Acorn was compelled to put to sea last night owing to numerous desertions of its crew. Five sailors seized the steam cutter Monday night and escaped. Lieutenant Valentine met another deserter who knocked him down and escaped. The reason given by the sailors for the wholesale desertion is harsh treatment.

Two Children Burned to Death.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

BLUE SPRINGS, Neb., Sept. 4.—Two children of David Guy, while playing with matches in the Rev. Mr. Andrews' barn yesterday, set fire to the barn and were burned to death.

THE HAMILTON CASE IN COURT TO-DAY

The Alleged Conspirators Remanded Until Friday—A Curious Crowd.

By Telegraph to The Freeman

NEW-YORK, Sept. 4.—The announcement that the alleged conspirators in the notorious Hamilton case were to appear before the Tombs Police Court had the effect to fill the Court room with representatives of all classes of society this afternoon. At 2:07 Judge Hogan took his seat. Assistant District Attorney Jerome appeared for The People. Detective Crowley appeared shortly after with Joshua Mann. Mrs. Swinton came in a moment later with Sergeant Mangin. At 2:20 the conspirators appeared before the Judge at the bar. They had no counsel. When asked if they had anything to say they said, "Nothing." They were remanded until Friday. Robert R. Hamilton was in a private room adjoining the court room, but was not called.

THE PARENTS OF "HAMILTON'S CHILD."

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

NEW-YORK, Sept. 4.—Inspector Byrnes said to-day he had discovered who the parents of Mrs. Ray Hamilton's baby were, and he could produce them if necessary.

FINAL INSPECTION OF THE PETREL.

What is Claimed by Builders of a Government Gun-Boat.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—The Secretary of the Navy has notified the President of the Columbia Iron Works, of Baltimore, to have the gun boat Petrel, recently tried by an official Board, painted and cleaned ready for the final inspection. This is taken to mean that the vessel is satisfactory and will be accepted by the Government. Pending final action, however, the Secretary is considering a claim by the company that they were ready for the trial 33 minutes before the Board began to take the records of the engines, which were during that period at their best. When the test actually began the engine had begun to fall off, and before the end of the run had gone down quite low. They hold that they were entitled to credit for the performance of the ship for 88 minutes before the records were taken, and that an equal amount of time be taken from the end of the four hours. In this case the indicated horse-power would be very near 1,100, which is the requirement. This claim is not likely to be allowed, in which case the penalties from this cause will not amount to much: The vessel has, however, earned a large sum for the Government in time penalties.

Clever Chicago Sharper Arrested.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—Max Jacobson, one of the cleverest of sharpers, was arrested last night for extensive embezzlement on the Fidelity & Casualty Company, of this City. Jacobson, who has been in the employ of the Company nearly a year, came here with excellent recommendations. His promotion was rapid and he was soon given charge of the Company's Western business. He had the handling of large sums of money and his accounts passed with little examination. During the racing season President Alexander learned by accident that his Superintendent was risking large sums of money in the pools, and that among the gamblers he passed as a "high roller." The young man was then watched and found to be living in great style. Glaring inaccuracies were also uncovered in his books and Jacobson was proved to be a forger and confidence man known in Europe and to have been released only a year ago after serving four years at Joliet for forgery. He is a native of Vienna.

Fatal Mistake by a Watchman.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 4.—John Weinbrook's saloon has been entered by burglars several times and the proprietor recently put a watchman named Jones in the place to guard it. Monday night Officer Campbell, who had orders from the department to watch the store, saw a man inside and attempted to go in and arrest him. Jones fired and the policeman retreated. He returned with two officers and they demanded a surrender of the man in the saloon. Jones, thinking they were thugs, fired again, fatally wounding Officer Hagemotter. A regular fusilade followed in which another man was wounded. Jones then surrendered and the situation was explained. The watchman was locked up.

A Woman Frightened to Death.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

BELLEVIEW, Ky., Sept. 4.—The largest funeral seen here for years was that yesterday of Mrs. Angelo Rusconi, one of the richest women in the State. For some time an "uncanny" visitor has appeared nightly in a room over a grocery and crowds gathered nightly to see it. Saturday night Mrs. Rusconi went to see the "ghost." She was very fleshy and afflicted with a tumor. When suddenly the ghost appeared she was startled and fell dead. Investigation discloses that the "ghost" is the reflection of an electric light.

Two Men Suffocated in a Well.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

ST. HELENA, Colo., Sept. 4.—William McPike, brother of ex-United States District Attorney McPike, went down into a well yesterday to see about repairs. He was overcome by poisonous gas and fell into the water. Martin Hickey went to his aid, and was also overcome. Louis Davis was lowered into the well, and got a rope around Hickey's body, narrowly escaping death himself. Hickey and McPike are dead.

Mrs. Flack Before the Grand Jury.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

NEW-YORK, Sept. 4.—Mrs. Flack appeared before the Grand Jury to-day to testify in the divorce case.

The jury examined her at great length and the members concluded that it might be necessary to call her again. The jury finished its labors for the day at 2 o'clock. Mrs. Flack was the only witness examined.

The Bank Vaults were Empty.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

CRESTON, Ia., Sept. 4.—The failure of the banking house of L. S. Brooks, of Lenox, on Monday, caused much excitement here, and it is increasing. Brooks and his Cashier have been arrested and a crowd of depositors has threatened them with violence. Attachments have been levied upon Brooks' property. The bank vaults were empty.

Disastrous Floods in Mexico.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

CITY OF MEXICO, Sept. 4.—There are heavy floods at Tetecla, State of Morelos. A large bridge has been washed away and several lives have been lost. There is danger of a greater rise. Tampico is also flooded and the people have been driven from their homes. They are in a starving condition and appeal for help.

More Old Towns Celebrating.

SUDBURY, Mass., Sept. 4.—The towns of Sudbury and Wayland to-day celebrated the two hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the incorporation of Old Sudbury, one of the most ancient of Massachusetts towns, having been settled in 1638.

English Strikers who Will Not Work, Nor Allow Other Men to Do So.

By Cable to The Freeman.

LONDON, Sept. 4.—There is a marked increase this morning in the number of dock men receiving work, and business on the wharves presents a rather brisk aspect. John Burns delivered an address to the strikers to-day at Tower Hill. He denounced arbitration through intermediaries and denied the reports that the dock men were going to work. He said it was expected that strikes would be inaugurated in Glasgow to day and in Southampton Thursday.

The steamers of the Peninsular & Oriental Steam Navigation Company are being loaded by Lascars assisted by the captains and other officers of the vessels.

POLICE FIRE UPON A CROWD.

LATER—The police have fired upon a crowd of strikers who were obstructing the work of loading steamers, fatally wounding one man.

LIVERPOOL, Sept. 4.—The strike here is ended, the employers having conceded the advance demanded.

THE RACE TROUBLES SUBSIDING.

Better State of Affairs Prevailing in the State of Mississippi.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

GREENWOOD, Miss., Sept. 4.—The Sheriff returned from Minture City last evening, and reports everything quiet there. Thomas, Allan and Cromwell, the moving spirits of the insurrection, have not been arrested, but the whites and the better class of Negroes are determined to bring them to justice. George Allen is the man who killed another Negro last Sunday on Townsend's place for refusing to join his band, and it is believed he is still in this County. Cromwell is an ex-convict and one of the principal instigators of the riot. His whereabouts at present are unknown, but there are about 75 or 100 men searching the woods for Allen and his accomplices, of whom there are about eight. The best of feeling prevails between the whites and the better class of blacks, and when this troublesome element has been brought to justice the machinery of affairs will move on as though nothing had happened.

The Death Record.

John Loomis, a leading business man and Republican politician of Northern New-Jersey, died at his home in Deckertown on Sunday night of heart failure.

To Encourage Catholic Emigration.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 4.—The Central Roman Catholic Society yesterday elected the following officers: President, Christian Wieckmann, Buffalo; First Vice-President, Fritz Arendes, St. Louis; Second Vice-President, J. Overbeck, Cincinnati; First Secretary, Erwin Steinbeck, New-York; Second Secretary, H. Gommersbach, St. Louis. The most important action taken was a decision to encourage the emigration of Catholic foreigners to this country. It is proposed to pay especial attention to farmers, who will be sent to join Catholic parishes in the West, or they will be banded together to form parishes.

Pennsylvania Democratic Convention.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 4.—The Democratic State Convention was called to order at about 11 o'clock this forenoon by Chairman Kisner. There is a conspicuous absence of the old-time leaders. Hon. Samuel W. Wherry, of Cumberland, was chosen Temporary Chairman. J. B. Riley, of Schuylkill, was chosen Permanent Chairman. In taking the reins of the Convention Mr. Riley made a brief speech.

Edward A. Bigler, of Clearfield County, was nominated for State Treasurer on the first ballot.

NOTES ON NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE forest fires of Montana have been extinguished by a heavy fall of snow. The depth of the snow is from four to six inches in some portions of the state. Though out of season it is accepted with thanks.

As was expected, a majority of Democratic votes was cast in the third Louisiana district yesterday, and Price will receive the certificate of election. But this does not end the matter. Minor will contest, and Congress will investigate.

THE London dock companies declare that they will not concede an inch to the strikers. And all the latter ask is sixpence or about 12 cents an hour and four hours for a day's work. Are American workmen crying for English free trade? If so they will please apply to the Democratic party.

DEMOCRATIC editors have sent to press the information that Hon. Warner Miller is not going to attend the Republican state convention. No Republican newspaper has the news. And it is not known that Mr. Miller is in the habit of getting mad at his own party and peddling to Democratic newspapers his plans for snubbing it. There must be a mistake somewhere.

JOHN MCCONNELL, the New-York snake charmer who received his seventh bite from a rattler last Monday, is recovering. He drank whisky almost incessantly Monday evening, and yesterday he found the pain nearly all gone but his stomach weak. He says he has had less trouble with this bite than with any other. The human system appears to be able to adapt itself to almost any deadly agency, electricity and rattlesnakes for example.

GEN. JOHN M. LANGSTON has declared in a letter his determination to support Mahone in the Virginia campaign. Langston, who was cheated out of his election to Congress last fall, has been supposed by the Democrats to be disgruntled, and on his defection as the leader of the colored Republican forces were based all their hopes of carrying the state. Langston's letter is worth 5,000 votes to the Republican ticket.

THE State Board of Equalization began its session in Albany yesterday. The report of the State Assessors shows the valuation of real estate to be $3,213,171,201, and of personal $354,258,556, total $3,567,429,757. This is an increase of real $91,066,807, and of personal $7,646,695. The assessors find that Ulster county is assessed 71 per cent and New York 60. The highest assessment is that of Cattaraugus county, 95 per cent, and the lowest Clinton and Richmond, 50 per cent.

THE real Democratic state convention is in session at Rochester to-day. It is made up exclusively of men opposed to "inequitable and oppressive sumptuary legislation," and is euphemistically labeled the "Liquor Dealers' Convention." But its wishes will be conveyed in a quiet manner to David B. Hill, and he will deliver them in the form of commands to the convention that is to meet at Syracuse on the 1st of October. All the real work of the Syracuse convention will be performed at Rochester before the anti-sumptuarians depart.

SHERIFF CHILDS and two deputies are on their way to New York from Mississippi with warrants for Muldoon, Cleary, Donovan, Stevenson, Johnston and other participants in the arrangements for the Sullivan-Kilrain prize fight. These worthies have all gathered in New York under the protecting wing of Gov. Hill. Since his accusation of bad faith against Gov. Lowry for permitting a sentence of imprisonment against Sullivan after promising to let him off on a light fine, it is believed that Mr. Hill will never honor another requisition paper from Mr. Lowry. Besides it is getting too close to election to allow this powerful Democratic band to depart now.

THE Treasury surplus is down to $43,489,909. Last fall it was $104,000,000. The government has reduced it by purchasing bonds, thus reducing the principal of the interest bearing debt. The monthly debt statement shows a reduction of $3,349,350 in 4½ per cents and $12,940,100 in 4 per cents. This is real debt payment. The debt less cash in the treasury was increased $6,076,693, but this increase is made up wholly of new issues of gold and silver certificates. There was a heavy draft for pensions, caused partly by the early exhaustion of last year's appropriation and the stoppage of payments until the fund for the present year could be drawn upon. The total debt is $1,645,826,163; the debt less cash in the treasury is $1,083,740,626.

THERE is a sort of parallel between the case of Sheriff Flack, whom Gov. Hill declines to remove, and that of Sim Coy of the Indianapolis Common Council. Coy was convicted of election frauds as a city official and sent to prison. The Council was Democratic, and the majority had not the necessary hardness of heart to repudiate the man who had sacrificed himself in the useful and important work of extinguishing Republican majorities. So, while he served the state at hard labor, he also continued to serve the city by keeping vacant a seat that might otherwise go to a Republican. He did not resign, neither was he expelled. His term in prison expired before that in the Common Council, and on the very night following his release, he appeared in his old place, and received a right royal welcome from his official associates, many of whom regarded him as having "done time" for them in a vicarious way. Coy lately received a renomination from his party, and will do his utmost to get himself re-elected as a vindication. And why should he not? The criminal classes that make up a large proportion of the Democratic party have a right to elect their own representative men if they have the votes. They sent John Morrissey to Congress, and returned Tweed to the Senate while he was under indictment. And as for Flack, he appears to be in a position to render greater service to Gov. Hill than if he had never been guilty of a crime. He is, in fact, keeping the Sheriff's office open till Hill calls for it, just as Coy kept the office of Councilman closed against the intrusion of a Republican.

THE LIQUOR DEALERS IN COUNCIL.

Annual Report is Complimentary to Governor Hill and His Vetoes.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

ROCHESTER, Sept. 4.—The Seventh Annual Convention of the New-York State Wine, Liquor and Beer Dealers' Association opened at noon to-day in Maennerchor Hall, President B. T. Kearns, of New-York, in the chair. The attendance is large, fully 800 delegates being present, representing the leading cities in the State. Mayor Parsons delivered a complimentary address of welcome. The annual report of the officers recites that "there is a larger membership, a greater balance in the treasury and a better showing in every respect than ever before; that so conservative has the management been that for two consecutive years no assessment or call of any nature has been made; that unjustly discriminating bills were constantly introduced in our Legislature, the past year and the wishes of the majority of the people ignored by the dominant party, and measures were rushed through and placed before the Chief Executive that no fair-minded man could consistently approve; a summary of the bills includes the Excise Commission bill, the Curtis High License bill and the Vedder State and County Tax bill; that necessary bills were introduced from time to time, with a view of abrogating some of the sumptuary laws that are now on the statute books, but the law-makers, or a majority of them, failed to give the relief needed, and quickly buried any measure having a tendency to relieve us of some of our burdens." The report concludes: "With the purpose of making our Association a truly representative one, and embracing within its Councils and ranks each and every portion of our Empire State, your Executive Committee drafted an address, known as the 'Pink' Circular, and after an enormous amount of labor succeeded in obtaining the addresses of all those engaged in our traffic and its allied and kindred trade interests throughout the State, and caused a copy of such circulars to be forwarded to such address. The beneficent results of the effort is already made apparent by the increase in the number of new Associations formed." The report is signed by the President, Vice-Presidents, Secretary, Treasurer and all of the Executive Committee.

THE LIQUOR DEALERS' ALLIES.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 4.—The Prohibition State Convention opened at Shakespeare Hall this morning with a prayer meeting, presided over by E. P. Ide, of Brooklyn. There is a fair attendance of delegates, many of whom are ladies. Around the hall are hung the mottoes "Save the Boys," "For God and Home and Native Land," "Our Name and Our Watchword—Protection," "In God We Trust." The location of the delegations in the body of the hall was marked by fans bearing the name of the counties on Japanese fans, affixed to rods.

Promptly at 11 o'clock, Frederick F. Wheeler, Chairman of the State Committee, called the Convention to order. The Silver Lake Quartette sang a selection and the Rev. Dr. Dunham, of Oneida, offered prayer. The quartette sang another selection and Professor A. A. Hopkins, of Rochester, was nominatad as Temporary Chairman. In the course of his speech he said, the Democratic party was as much the party of liquor as it ever was, and the Republican party more so, while the Prohibitionists were more than ever determined to continue. He arraigned the Republicans for what they had done, and what they had not done. There was to be no compromise, it was a war of annihilation. "The time has come," he said, "When the Prohibitionists can ask for the out-lawry of the liquor traffic, just as we did for slavery. Give the nominees of this Convention 50,000 votes and we will revolutionize the politics of this country within the next 10 years." Joseph A. Bogardus of New-York and W. E. Werner of Johnstown, were chosen Temporary Secretaries.

Committees on Permanent Organization and Credentials were appointed.

NEW DANGER TO VESTIBULE TRAINS.

Coach Roofs Catch Fire Through Friction Which Wore Off Rubber Casing.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 4.—The limited train from the East was 31 minutes late last night, on account of one of the most unexpected, as well as surprising, accidents which has happened since the vestibule train has been started. Between Philadelphia and Harrisburg the roofs of the two forward coaches caught fire through friction which wore off the rubber casing and got the steel plates red hot. The fire was easily extinguished at Harrisburg. A meeting of the railroad officials will be held within a few days to devise some means of avoiding this new danger to vestibule trains.

A Mystery to Surgeons.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., Sept. 4.—Frank Havens, aged 38, dropped dead lest evening. A post-mortem disclosed an abnormal arrangement of the vital organs. The heart was on the right side. A coagula, amounting to about two quarts of blood, surrounded the heart. The liver was on the left side of the abdomen and the stomach on the right. The lungs were only one-third the normal size and were pressed upward. How the man could have lived any length of time after birth seems a mystery to the surgeons.

British Sailors Harshly Treated.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 4.—The British man-of-war Acorn was compelled to put to sea last night owing to numerous desertions of its crew. Five sailors seized the steam cutter Monday night and escaped. Lieutenant Valentine met another deserter who knocked him down and escaped. The reason given by the sailors for the wholesale desertion is harsh treatment.

Two Children Burned to Death.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

BLUE SPRINGS, Neb., Sept. 4.—Two children of David Guy, while playing with matches in the Rev. Mr. Andrews' barn yesterday, set fire to the barn and were burned to death.

THE HAMILTON CASE IN COURT TO-DAY

The Alleged Conspirators Remanded Until Friday—A Curious Crowd.

By Telegraph to The Freeman

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—The announcement that the alleged conspirators in the notorious Hamilton case were to appear before the Tombs Police Court had the effect to fill the Court room with representatives of all classes of society this afternoon. At 2:07 Judge Hogan took his seat. Assistant District Attorney Jerome appeared for The People. Detective Crowley appeared shortly after with Joshua Mann. Mrs. Swinton came in a moment later with Sergeant Mangin. At 2:20 the conspirators appeared before the Judge at the bar. They had no counsel. When asked if they had anything to say they said, "Nothing." They were remanded until Friday. Robert R. Hamilton was in a private room adjoining the court room, but was not called.

FINAL INSPECTION OF THE PETREL.

What is Claimed by Builders of a Government Gun-Boat.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—The Secretary of the Navy has notified the President of the Columbia Iron Works, of Baltimore, to have the gun boat Petrel, recently tried by an official Board, painted and cleaned ready for the final inspection. This is taken to mean that the vessel is satisfactory and will be accepted by the Government. Pending final action, however, the Secretary is considering a claim by the company that they were ready for the trial 33 minutes before the Board began to take the records of the engines, which were during that period at their best. When the test actually began the engine had begun to fall off, and before the end of the run had gone down quite low. They hold that they were entitled to credit for the performance of the ship for 33 minutes before the records were taken, and that an equal amount of time be taken from the end of the four hours. In this case the indicated horse-power would be very near 1,100, which is the requirement. This claim is not likely to be allowed, in which case the penalties from this cause will not amount to much. The vessel has, however, earned a large sum for the Government in time penalties.

Clever Chicago Sharper Arrested.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—Max Jacobson, one of the cleverest of sharpers, was arrested last night for extensive embezzlement on the Fidelity & Casualty Company, of this City. Jacobson, who has been in the employ of the Company nearly a year, came here with excellent recommendations. His promotion was rapid and he was soon given charge of the Company's Western business. He had the handling of large sums of money and his accounts passed with little examination. During the racing season President Alexander learned by accident that his Superintendent was risking large sums of money in the pools, and that among the gamblers he passed as a "high roller." The young man was then watched and found to be living in great style. Glaring inaccuracies were also uncovered in his books and Jacobson was proved to be a forger and confidence man known in Europe and to have been released only a year ago after serving four years at Joliet for forgery. He is a native of Vienna.

Fatal Mistake by a Watchman.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 4.—John Weinbrook's saloon has been entered by burglars several times and the proprietor recently put a watchman named Jones in the place to guard it. Monday night Officer Campbell, who had orders from the department to watch the store, saw a man inside and attempted to go in and arrest him. Jones fired and the policeman retreated. He returned with two officers and they demanded a surrender of the man in the saloon. Jones, thinking they were thugs, fired again, fatally wounding Officer Hagemotter. A regular fusilade followed in which another man was wounded. Jones then surrendered and the situation was explained. The watchman was locked up.

A Woman Frightened to Death.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

BELLEVIEW, Ky., Sept. 4.—The largest funeral seen here for years was that yesterday of Mrs. Angelo Rusconi, one of the richest women in the State. For some time an "uncanny" visitor has appeared nightly in a room over a grocery and crowds gathered nightly to see it. Saturday night Mrs. Rusconi went to see the "ghost." She was very fleshy and afflicted with a tumor. When suddenly the ghost appeared she was startled and fell dead. Investigation discloses that the "ghost" is the reflection of an electric light.

Two Men Suffocated in a Well.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

ST. HELENA, Colo., Sept. 4.—William McPike, brother of ex-United States District Attorney McPike, went down into a well yesterday to see about repairs. He was overcome by poisonous gas and fell into the water. Martin Hickey went to his aid, and was also overcome. Louis Davis was lowered into the well, and got a rope around Hickey's body, narrowly escaping death himself. Hickey and McPike are dead.

Mrs. Flack Before the Grand Jury.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

NEW-YORK, Sept. 4.—Mrs. Flack appeared before the Grand Jury to-day to testify in the divorce case.

The jury examined her at great length and the members concluded that it might be necessary to call her again. The jury finished its labors for the day at 2 o'clock. Mrs. Flack was the only witness examined.

The Bank Vaults were Empty.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

CRESTON, Ia., Sept. 4.—The failure of the banking house of L. S. Brooks, of Lenox, on Monday, caused much excitement here, and it is increasing. Brooks and his Cashier have been arrested and a crowd of depositors has threatened them with violence. Attachments have been levied upon Brooks' property. The bank vaults were empty.

English Strikers who Will Not Work, Nor Allow Other Men to Do So.

By Cable to The Freeman.

LONDON, Sept. 4.—There is a marked increase this morning in the number of dock men receiving work, and business on the wharves presents a rather brisk aspect. John Burns delivered an address to the strikers to-day at Tower Hill. He denounced arbitration through intermediaries and denied the reports that the dock men were going to work. He said it was expected that strikes would be inaugurated in Glasgow to day and in Southampton Thursday.

THE RACE TROUBLES SUBSIDING.

Better State of Affairs Prevailing in the State of Mississippi.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

GREENWOOD, Miss., Sept. 4.—The Sheriff returned from Minture City last evening, and reports everything quiet there. Thomas, Allan and Cromwell, the moving spirits of the insurrection, have not been arrested, but the whites and the better class of Negroes are determined to bring them to justice. George Allen is the man who killed another Negro last Sunday on Townsend's place for refusing to join his band, and it is believed he is still in this County. Cromwell is an ex-convict and one of the principal instigators of the riot. His whereabouts at present are unknown, but there are about 75 or 100 men searching the woods for Allen and his accomplices, of whom there are about eight. The best of feeling prevails between the whites and the better class of blacks, and when this troublesome element has been brought to justice the machinery of affairs will move on as though nothing had happened.

Overbeck, Cincinnati; First Secretary, Erwin Steinbeck, New-York; Second Secretary, H. Gommersbach, St. Louis. The most important action taken was a decision to encourage the emigration of Catholic foreigners to this country. It is proposed to pay especial attention to farmers, who will be sent to join Catholic parishes in the West, or they will be banded together to form parishes.

Langston, who was cheated out of his election to Congress last fall, has been supposed by the Democrats to be disgruntled, and on his defection as the leader of the colored Republican forces were based all their hopes of carrying the state. Langston's letter is worth 5,000 votes to the Republican ticket.

THE State Board of Equalization began its session in Albany yesterday. The report of the State Assessors shows the valuation of real estate to be $3,213,171,201, and of personal $354,258,556, total $3,567,429,757. This is an increase of real $91,066,807, and of personal $7,646,695. The assessors find that Ulster county is assessed 71 per cent and New York 60. The highest assessment is that of Cattaraugus county, 95 per cent, and the lowest Clinton and Richmond, 50 per cent.

THE real Democratic state convention is in session at Rochester to-day. It is made up exclusively of men opposed to "inequitable and oppressive sumptuary legislation," and is euphemistically labeled the "Liquor Dealers' Convention." But its wishes will be conveyed in a quiet manner to David B. Hill, and he will deliver them in the form of commands to the convention that is to meet at Syracuse on the 1st of October. All the real work of the Syracuse convention will be performed at Rochester before the anti-sumptuarians depart.

SHERIFF CHILDS and two deputies are on their way to New York from Mississippi with warrants for Muidoon, Cleary, Donovan, Stevenson, Johnston and other participants in the arrangements for the Sullivan-Kilrain prize fight. These worthies have all gathered in New York under the protecting wing of Gov. Hill. Since his accusation of bad faith against Gov. Lowry for permitting a sentence of imprisonment against Sullivan after promising to let him off on a light fine, it is believed that Mr. Hill will never honor another requisition paper from Mr. Lowry. Besides it is getting too close to election to allow this powerful Democratic band to depart now.

THE Treasury surplus is down to $43,489,909. Last fall it was $104,000,000. The government has reduced it by purchasing bonds, thus reducing the principal of the interest bearing debt. The monthly debt statement shows a reduction of $3,349,350 in 4½ per cents and $12,940,100 in 4 per cents. This is real debt payment. The debt less cash in the treasury was increased $6,076,693, but this increase is made up wholly of new issues of gold and silver certificates. There was a heavy draft for pensions, caused partly by the early exhaustion of last year's appropriation and the stoppage of payments until the fund for the present year could be drawn upon. The total debt is $1,645,826,163; the debt less cash in the treasury is $1,083,740,626.

THERE is a sort of parallel between the case of Sheriff Flack, whom Gov. Hill declines to remove, and that of Sim Coy of the Indianapolis Common Council. Coy was convicted of election frauds as a city official and sent to prison. The Council was Democratic, and the majority had not the necessary hardness of heart to repudiate the man who had sacrificed himself in the useful and important work of extinguishing Republican majorities. So, while he served the state at hard labor, he also continued to serve the city by keeping vacant a seat that might otherwise go to a Republican. He did not resign, neither was he expelled. His term in prison expired before that in the Common Council, and on the very night following his release, he appeared in his old place, and received a right royal welcome from his official associates, many of whom regarded him as having "done time" for them in a vicarious way. Coy lately received a renomination from his party, and will do his utmost to get himself re-elected as a vindication. And why should he not? The criminal classes that make up a large proportion of the Democratic party have a right to elect their own representative men if they have the votes. They sent John Morrissey to Congress, and returned Tweed to the Senate while he was under indictment. And as for Flack, he appears to be in a position to render greater service to Gov. Hill than if he had never been guilty of a crime. He is, in fact, keeping the Sheriff's office open till Hill calls for it, just as Coy kept the office of Councilman closed against the intrusion of a Republican.

THE LIQUOR DEALERS IN COUNCIL.

Annual Report is Complimentary to Governor Hill and His Vetoes.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

ROCHESTER, Sept. 4.—The Seventh Annual Convention of the New-York State Wine, Liquor and Beer Dealers' Association opened at noon to-day in Maennerchor Hall, President B. T. Kearns, of New-York, in the chair. The attendance is large, fully 800 delegates being present, representing the leading cities in the State. Mayor Parsons delivered a complimentary address of welcome. The annual report of the officers recites that "there is a larger membership, a greater balance in the treasury and a better showing in every respect than ever before; that so conservative has the management been that for two consecutive years no assessment or call of any nature has been made; that unjustly discriminating bills were constantly introduced in our Legislature, the past year and the wishes of the majority of the people ignored by the dominant party, and measures were rushed through and placed before the Chief Executive that no fair-minded man could consistently approve; a summary of the bills includes the Excise Commission bill, the Curtis High License bill and the Vedder State and County Tax bill; that necessary bills were introduced from time to time, with a view of abrogating some of the sumptuary laws that are now on the statute books, but the law-makers, or a majority of them, failed to give the relief needed, and quickly buried any measure having a tendency to relieve us of some of our burdens." The report concludes: "With the purpose of making our Association a truly representative one, and embracing within its Councils and ranks each and every portion of our Empire State, your Executive Committee drafted an address, known as the 'Pink' Circular, and after an enormous amount of labor succeeded in obtaining the addresses of all those engaged in our traffic and its allied and kindred trade interests throughout the State, and caused a copy of such circulars to be forwarded to such address. The beneficent results of the effort is already made apparent by the increase in the number of new Associations formed." The report is signed by the President, Vice-Presidents, Secretary, Treasurer and all of the Executive Committee.

THE LIQUOR DEALERS' ALLIES.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 4.—The Prohibition State Convention opened at Shakespeare Hall this morning with a prayer meeting, presided over by E. P. Ide, of Brooklyn. There is a fair attendance of delegates, many of whom are ladies. Around the hall are hung the mottoes "Save the Boys," "For God and Home and Native Land," "Our Name and Our Watchword—Protection," "In God We Trust." The location of the delegations in the body of the hall was marked by fans bearing the name of the counties on Japanese fans, affixed to rods.

Promptly at 11 o'clock, Frederick F. Wheeler, Chairman of the State Committee, called the Convention to order. The Silver Lake Quartette sang a selection and the Rev. Dr. Dunham, of Oneida, offered prayer. The quartette sang another selection and Professor A. A. Hopkins, of Rochester, was nominatad as Temporary Chairman. In the course of his speech he said, the Democratic party was as much the party of liquor as it ever was, and the Republican party more so, while the Prohibitionists were more than ever determined to continue. He arraigned the Republicans for what they had done, and what they had not done. There was to be no compromise, it was a war of annihilation. "The time has come," he said, "When the Prohibitionists can ask for the out-lawry of the liquor traffic, just as we did for slavery. Give the nominees of this Convention 50,000 votes and we will revolutionize the politics of this country within the next 10 years." Joseph A. Bogardus of New-York and W. E. Werner of Johnstown, were chosen Temporary Secretaries.

Committees on Permanent Organization and Credentials were appointed.

NEW DANGER TO VESTIBULE TRAINS.

Coach Roofs Catch Fire Through Friction Which Wore Off Rubber Casing.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 4.—The limited train from the East was 31 minutes late last night, on account of one of the most unexpected, as well as surprising, accidents which has happened since the vestibule train has been started. Between Philadelphia and Harrisburg the roofs of the two forward coaches caught fire through friction which wore off the rubber casing and got the steel plates red hot. The fire was easily extinguished at Harrisburg. A meeting of the railroad officials will be held within a few days to devise some means of avoiding this new danger to vestibule trains.

A Mystery to Surgeons.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., Sept. 4.—Frank Havens, aged 38, dropped dead last evening. A post-mortem disclosed an abnormal arrangement of the vital organs. The heart was on the right side. A coagula, amounting to about two quarts of blood, surrounded the heart. The liver was on the left side of the abdomen and the stomach on the right. The lungs were only one-third the normal size and were pressed upward. How the man could have lived any length of time after birth seems a mystery to the surgeons.

British Sailors Harshly Treated.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 4.—The British man-of-war Acorn was compelled to put to sea last night owing to numerous desertions of its crew. Five sailors seized the steam cutter Monday night and escaped. Lieutenant Valentine met another deserter who knocked him down and escaped. The reason given by the sailors for the wholesale desertion is harsh treatment.

THE HAMILTON CASE IN COURT TO-DAY

The Alleged Conspirators Remanded Until Friday—A Curious Crowd.

By Telegraph to The Freeman

NEW-YORK, Sept. 4.—The announcement that the alleged conspirators in the notorious Hamilton case were to appear before the Tombs Police Court had the effect to fill the Court room with representatives of all classes of society this afternoon. At 2:07 Judge Hogan took his seat. Assistant District Attorney Jerome appeared for The People. Detective Crowley appeared shortly after with Joshua Mann. Mrs. Swinton came in a moment later with Sergeant Mangin. At 2:20 the conspirators appeared before the Judge at the bar. They had no counsel. When asked if they had anything to say they said, "Nothing." They were remanded until Friday. Robert R. Hamilton was in a private room adjoining the court room, but was not called.

FINAL INSPECTION OF THE PETREL.

What is Claimed by Builders of a Government Gun-boat.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—The Secretary of the Navy has notified the President of the Columbia Iron Works, of Baltimore, to have the gun boat Petrel, recently tried by an official Board, painted and cleaned ready for the final inspection. This is taken to mean that the vessel is satisfactory and will be accepted by the Government. Pending final action, however, the Secretary is considering a claim by the company that they were ready for the trial 33 minutes before the Board began to take the records of the engines, which were during that period at their best. When the test actually began the engine had begun to fall off, and before the end of the run had gone down quite low. They hold that they were entitled to credit for the performance of the ship for 33 minutes before the records were taken, and that an equal amount of time be taken from the end of the four hours. In this case the indicated horse-power would be very near 1,100, which is the requirement. This claim is not likely to be allowed, in which case the penalties from this cause will not amount to much. The vessel has, however, earned a large sum for the Government in time penalties.

Clever Chicago Sharper Arrested.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—Max Jacobson, one of the cleverest of sharpers, was arrested last night for extensive embezzlement on the Fidelity & Casualty Company, of this City. Jacobson, who has been in the employ of the Company nearly a year, came here with excellent recommendations. His promotion was rapid and he was soon given charge of the Company's Western business. He had the handling of large sums of money and his accounts passed with little examination. During the racing season President Alexander learned by accident that his Superintendent was risking large sums of money in the pools, and that among the gamblers he passed as a "high roller." The young man was then watched and found to be living in great style. Glaring inaccuracies were also uncovered in his books and Jacobson was proved to be a forger and confidence man known in Europe and to have been released only a year ago after serving four years at Joliet for forgery. He is a native of Vienna.

Fatal Mistake by a Watchman.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 4.—John Weinbrook's saloon has been entered by burglars several times and the proprietor recently put a watchman named Jones in the place to guard it. Monday night Officer Campbell, who had orders from the department to watch the store, saw a man inside and attempted to go in and arrest him. Jones fired and the policeman retreated. He returned with two officers and they demanded a surrender of the man in the saloon. Jones, thinking they were thugs, fired again, fatally wounding Officer Hagemotter. A regular fusilade followed in which another man was wounded. Jones then surrendered and the situation was explained. The watchman was locked up.

She was very fleshy and afflicted with a tumor. When suddenly the ghost appeared she was startled and fell dead. Investigation discloses that the "ghost" is the reflection of an electric light.

Better State of Affairs Prevailing in the State of Mississippi.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

GREENWOOD, Miss., Sept. 4.—The Sheriff returned from Minture City last evening, and reports everything quiet there. Thomas, Allan and Cromwell, the moving spirits of the insurrection, have not been arrested, but the whites and the better class of Negroes are determined to bring them to justice. George Allen is the man who killed another Negro last Sunday on Townsend's place for refusing to join his band, and it is believed he is still in this County. Cromwell is an ex-convict and one of the principal instigators of the riot. His whereabouts at present are unknown, but there are about 75 or 100 men searching the woods for Allen and his accomplices, of whom there are about eight. The best of feeling prevails between the whites and the better class of blacks, and when this troublesome element has been brought to justice the machinery of affairs will move on as though nothing had happened.

HILL AND FLACK.

The Rochester Union, which has undertaken the defense of Gov. Hill's inactivity in the Flack case, thus lays down the course to be pursued before that official can remove the offending Sheriff from office:

> The Governor has not the power, arbitrarily and at will, to perform the functions of prosecutor, Judge, jury and executioner in his case. The Governor is empowered by the constitution to remove a Sheriff during his term, but only upon charges against him and served upon him, and an opportunity of defense being given him. It is not contemplated that the Governor shall be his accuser, but that he shall constitute the tribunal before which accusation shall be made, and which shall hear and pass upon the same. If the Republican newspapers in question are particularly anxious for the removal of Sheriff Flack, and know, as they think they do, that he should be removed, they ought to stop their nonsensical talk and go straightway before the Governor and make and swear to their charges

That is to say, the Governor has not the constitutional power to act, till somebody comes before him with a few details of the scandal and does some swearing. He need not be an official; he may be any individual, even the humblest Republican in the state. But until he appears and delivers his oath or oaths, the Governor is powerless to act. He may not take the initiative. To do so would be to constitute himself "prosecutor, judge jury and executioner."

Now it is nobody's business in particular to formulate these charges before the Governor. The constitution, which gives the executive the power to remove certain officers, including the Sheriff, does not designate who shall take the initiative or indicate any form of procedure. The constitution merely provides in general terms that if a Sheriff is found unfit for the office or unworthy of it, the Governor is to remove him. We quote all that the constitution says upon this point: "The Governor may remove any officer in this section mentioned, within the term for which he shall have been elected, giving to such officer a copy of the charges against him, and an opportunity of being heard in his defense." Where is the requirement here that somebody must come before the Governor with formal charges and swear to them? Where is there a word to indicate that he may not proceed to act upon the charges that he has seen in the newspapers?

Unfortunately, the Governor is not limited to newspaper testimony in this case. He has read the declarations and the depositions of Mrs. Flack. He has seen the admissions of crooked procedure by Meek, Monell and others. He has read of the resignations of Flack and the other conspirators from Tammany, and the declarations of Tammany leaders that they are unworthy of membership in their party. He has seen printed fac similes of documents in the case, which lead to the inevitable conclusion that forgery was committed and connived at to bolster up the conspiracy. In the face of these facts we can fancy the Governor sitting helpless in Albany, wringing his hands, and wondering why somebody does not come along with a string of charges and affidavits. He is anxious to act, but nobody appears to be willing to take the initiative and give him a starting point. He does not wish to exercise all the functions of prosecutor, judge, jury and executioner; the labor is presumably too heavy and the responsibility too great. But the constitution does make him all these. He may prepare the charges himself. He may hand them in person to the accused official. He may summon him to appear and show cause why he should not be removed. And though the reasons which the man presents may be conclusive in his favor in the opinion of every man in the state except the Governor, he may remove him at his own discretion.

The Union quotes from the Governor's memorandum in the Shaler case to show with what careful consideration he acted towards a Republican official. He did indeed move slowly, but none the less surely and determinedly towards the removal of this officer. Shaler was accused of bribery and twice tried in a criminal court. In both trials the jury failed to agree, a plain conclusion to every unprejudiced mind that the charges had not been proven. After the District Attorney had nol prosequied the indictment the Governor removed Shaler, when he should have permitted him to remain in office. On what ground did he base his removal? Not on even the assumption that the charges had been proved, for he admits that they had not. He even goes so far as to express doubt of the propriety of removing him at all as the case then stood, for he said:

> Whether Shaler can properly be removed from one office for offenses committed in another office or in another official capacity, or whether the provisions of sections 57 and 59 of the Consolidation act can be applied to his case so that he can be deemed to have violated those sections, and thereby subjected himself to removal without first having been convicted by a jury, are legal questions which are not free from difficulty.

Then, after confessing that he was not sure of having either propriety or law on his side, he makes the removal solely on the ground of "Shaler's usefulness as a public official having been greatly impaired." He had the fact to fall back upon after trial and failure to convict, that the accusations had given rise to scandal. Shaler stood infinitely better before the people of his city and state than before the trials took place, but he was a Republican, and Hill wanted his office. Simmered down to its correct proportions, this was the sole reason left the Governor for making the removal. But he does not yet discover that Flack's "usefulness as a public official has been greatly impaired." The scandal concerning him has been a thousand times more infamous than the worst ever said about Shaler, and every word has proved itself so thoroughly that Tammany kicks him out, but such things, we must conclude, do not in the Governor's opinion impair the usefulness of a Democratic official.

Well, if the Democratic party can stand the Governor's conduct and afford to defend it, certainly no Republican has occasion to complain. The Governor will wait in vain for some Republican to appear before him and formulate charges against Flack. Every intelligent Republican understands that Flack is to be allowed to remain in office till after the 15th of October, when Hill can appoint his successor for a full year, instead of having him voted out of office on next election day. When the time agreed upon arrives Gov. Hill will not wait for sworn charges against Flack, but will call for his resignation and will get it. He could have the resignation to-day for the asking but does not want it. And New York is left with the cheering prospect of having for its Sheriff a man under indictment for one of the foulest and most odious crimes that ever stained the records of criminal procedure.

TOO GUILELESS BY HALF.

If the sensation which all the New York newspapers contain to-day in regard to the Hamilton case is true, then Mr. Hamilton must be set down as what is sometimes described in derision as an "innocent," and in the Pennsylvania vernacular as an "ornery." It is related that Mrs. Hamilton, while she was living with Josh Mann as his wife and also receiving the attentions of Hamilton, purchased four bogus babies in succession to impose upon Hamilton as his own. The first baby was shown to Hamilton, and the interesting information imparted to him that he was its father. Eva fell upon her knees and implored him for the sake of his child to marry her, promising to be a good wife and devoted mother. The sight of the baby melted the young lawmaker, and he promised marriage. Then he went away, and in a few days the baby died. A second one was procured before the burial of the first, but it died before the happy "father" could see it. Then a third was purchased for $10, but as it was a brunette Eva objected to the "black brat," saying Hamilton would know that it was not the baby that he had seen. It cost her $5 to induce the midwife to take it back. The fourth one was then secured and still lives, and is the "darling Beatrice" for whose sake Hamilton married Eva and has since declared his determination to stand by her in her stabbing difficulty. The assistants of the woman in this "put up job" upon Hamilton were Mother Swinton and her son Josh Mann, and both have been placed under arrest. Eva told the physician who was called to treat one of the babies which died, that she would lose $100,000 if he failed to save its life.

Though Hamilton knew by the woman's confession the shameless life she had lived, he appears to have been led to admit himself as the one man among thousands who was responsible for the baby's life. Mr. Hamilton is 38 years old. Is there "no fool like an old fool?" Or was the paternal instinct within him so flattered that he was pleased with the first opportunity to call a pretty baby his own? It is probable that he will discard Eva and leave her to her vicious ways. But there is perhaps enough of manly resentment in his nature to not turn his back upon Mother Swinton and Josh Mann until he sees them comfortably housed in the New Jersey prison.

PUBLIC OPINION.

Does "inequitable and oppressive sumptuary legislation" lay a tax of $5,000,000 on our farmers and other honest and hard-working citizens? Does "inequitable and oppressive sumptuary legislation" crowd our jails, poorhouses and prisons? Does "inequitable and oppressive sumptuary legislation" add thousands of recruits yearly to our criminal classes, making our large cities hot-beds of ignorance and vice? Does "inequitable and oppressive sumptuary legislation" make drunken husbands, cause the beating of wives, the strangling of babes and the thousand nameless crimes that come from intemperance? Does "inequitable and oppressive sumptuary legislation" fill our land with misery and disease?—Albany Journal.

The New York Sun informs Governor Hill that his recent increase of police justices in the city has not led to any increase of courts, or promptness of trying cases—a reform which was much needed. It has simply afforded the police judges a chance to get longer vacations than usual all round. It was demonstrated clearly enough before the increase bill was signed that the police justices were not busy half the time. But Governor Hill thought he saw some partisan advantage in the bill, and his concern for the dear taxpayers was held in leash for an educational or debt paying measure.—Utica Herald.

Any fool might go over the falls of Niagara in a barrel, so that there is nothing marvelous about Cooper Graham's feat save that he survived it. But let some seeker after fame devise a plan of ascending the falls in a like way, and he will have solved a difficult problem in hydrostatics.—Philadelphia Record.

AN IRON BOOM.

[From the Albany Journal.]

Those who assert that the assurance that the tariff is not to be tinkered in the interests of free trade has no effect on the iron business, are respectfully requested to note a few things that happened at and near Reading, Pennsylvania, yesterday. There was a big industrial boom there.

The rolling mill, pipe and tube mills and foundry of the Reading Iron Company, after an idleness of six months, resumed operations, and in a week will be running full handed, when 2,000 men will again be employed. The wages of puddlers have been put up to $3.70 per ton.

McIlvane's rolling mill resumed, the puddlers' wages being increased from $3.25 to $3.70 per ton.

Beginning yesterday S. R. Seyfert's puddlers at Seyfert's Station, in the same county, had their wages raised to $4 per ton, the highest paid in the Schuylkill valley.

At Pottstown the puddlers of the Potts Iron Company commenced working at an increase of from $3.25 to $3.50 per ton.

The Glasgow Iron Company's puddlers are now working at the same increase.

The sum of the matter is that for years the iron trade has never been brisker. The mills are beginning to run again on full time, giving steady work, and wages are being raised all along the line. When the Democrats were trying to smash the tariff every man was timid, not knowing whether his business would be knocked into a cocked hat within the next six months. But we have changed all that. Republican ascendancy means prosperity.

OUR HAZY ATMOSPHERE.

Not Indian Summer, but the Smoke of Northwestern Fires.

[From the New York Tribune.]

Indian summer has been prematurely hinted at in some of the Eastern States for the last few days by hazy skies, and, late in the afternoon, an orange-tinted sun, at which one may gaze steadily without harm to the naked eyes. The veil is not fog nor mist. The hygrometer shows that. More likely it is smoke. And it is not improbable that it comes from forest fires in the far Northwest. The surface winds hereabouts have blown from the north, east and southwest most of the time, but the upper aerial currents, which would be more likely to bear the impalpable dust which causes this autumnal phenomenon, have come pretty steadily from the direction of Michigan, Minnesota and Wisconsin, and the atmospheric obscuration seems to have been noticed in Rochester and Albany, in this state, a day or so before it became conspicuous near New York. The lack of rain, which in this immediate vicinity has now lasted ten days, has permitted a continuation of this condition of the atmosphere. No doubt a sharp shower would clear things up effectually for a time.

Further Great Cures of Skin Diseases by Cuticura Remedies.

Boy one year and a half old. Face and body in a terrible condition, being covered with sores. Sulphur springs fail. Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

I have used your Cuticura Remedies in two cases where it proved to be successful. The first was in the case of a boy a year and a half old. His face and body were in a terrible condition, the former being completely covered with sores. I took him to the Massena Sulphur Springs, but he did not improve any. I was then advised to try the Cuticura Remedies, which I did. He took one and one half bottles of Cuticura Resolvant, when his skin was as smooth as could be, and is to-day. I used the Cuticura on his sores and the Cuticura Soap in washing him. He is now five years of age and all right. The other case was a disease of the scalp, which was cured by washing with the Cuticura Soap and rubbing in the Cuticura, one bottle of Cuticura Resolvent being used. They have proved successful in every case where I have advised the use of them. It is surprising how rapidly a child will improve under their treatment. I recommend them for any disease of the skin as being the best in the world. This is my experience, and I am ready to stand by my statement.

An Unbearable Skin Disease Cured.

I have been afflicted since last March with a skin disease the doctors called Eczema. My face was covered with scabs and sores, and the itching and burning were almost unbearable. Seeing your Cuticura Remedies so highly recommended, concluded to give them a trial, using the Cuticura and Cuticura Soap externally, and Resolvent internally four months. I call myself cured, in gratitude for which I make this public statement.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH.

Cure Begins from First Application, and is Rapid, Radical And Permanent.

It is the mucous membrane, that wonderful semi-fluid envelope surrounding the delicate tissues of the air and food passages, that Catarrh makes its stronghold. Once established, it eats into the very vitals, and renders life but a long-drawn breath of misery and disease, dulling the sense of hearing, trammeling the power of speech, destroying the faculty of smell, tainting the breath, and killing the refined pleasures of taste. Insidiously, by creeping on from a simple cold in the head, it assaults the membranous lining and envelopes the bones, eating through the delicate coats and causing inflammation, sloughing and other dangerous symptoms. Nothing short of total eradication will secure health to the patient, and all alleviatives are simply procrastinated sufferings. Sanford's Radical Cure, by Inhalation and by Internal administration, rarely fails; even when the disease has made frightful inroads on delicate constitutions, hearing, smell, and taste have been recovered, and the disease throughly driven out.

Sanford's Radical Cure for Catarrh

Consists of one bottle of the Radical Cure, one box Catarrhal Solvent, and Improved Inhaler, all in one package; price $1. Ask for Sanford's Radical Cure. Sold everywhere

HILL AND FLACK.

The Rochester Union, which has undertaken the defense of Gov. Hill's inactivity in the Flack case, thus lays down the course to be pursued before that official can remove the offending Sheriff from office:

> The Governor has not the power, arbitrarily and at will, to perform the functions of prosecutor, Judge, jury and executioner in his case. The Governor is empowered by the constitution to remove a Sheriff during his term, but only upon charges against him and served upon him, and an opportunity of defense being given him. It is not contemplated that the Governor shall be his accuser, but that he shall constitute the tribunal before which accusation shall be made, and which shall hear and pass upon the same. If the Republican newspapers in question are particularly anxious for the removal of Sheriff Flack, and know, as they think they do, that he should be removed, they ought to stop their nonsensical talk and go straightway before the Governor and make and swear to their charges.

That is to say, the Governor has not the constitutional power to act, till somebody comes before him with a few details of the scandal and does some swearing. He need not be an official; he may be any individual, even the humblest Republican in the state. But until he appears and delivers his oath or oaths, the Governor is powerless to act. He may not take the initiative. To do so would be to constitute himself "prosecutor, judge jury and executioner."

Now it is nobody's business in particular to formulate these charges before the Governor. The constitution, which gives the executive the power to remove certain officers, including the Sheriff, does not designate who shall take the initiative or indicate any form of procedure. The constitution merely provides in general terms that if a Sheriff is found unfit for the office or unworthy of it, the Governor is to remove him. We quote all that the constitution says upon this point: "The Governor may remove any officer in this section mentioned, within the term for which he shall have been elected, giving to such officer a copy of the charges against him, and an opportunity of being heard in his defense." Where is the requirement here that somebody must come before the Governor with formal charges and swear to them? Where is there a word to indicate that he may not proceed to act upon the charges that he has seen in the newspapers?

Unfortunately, the Governor is not limited to newspaper testimony in this case. He has read the declarations and the depositions of Mrs. Flack. He has seen the admissions of crooked procedure by Meek, Monell and others. He has read of the resignations of Flack and the other conspirators from Tammany, and the declarations of Tammany leaders that they are unworthy of membership in their party. He has seen printed fac similes of documents in the case, which lead to the inevitable conclusion that forgery was committed and connived at to bolster up the conspiracy. In the face of these facts we can fancy the Governor sitting helpless in Albany, wringing his hands, and wondering why somebody does not come along with a string of charges and affidavits. He is anxious to act, but nobody appears to be willing to take the initiative and give him a starting point. He does not wish to exercise all the functions of prosecutor, judge, jury and executioner; the labor is presumably too heavy and the responsibility too great. But the constitution does make him all these. He may prepare the charges himself. He may hand them in person to the accused official. He may summon him to appear and show cause why he should not be removed. And though the reasons which the man presents may be conclusive in his favor in the opinion of every man in the state except the Governor, he may remove him at his own discretion.

The Union quotes from the Governor's memorandum in the Shaler case to show with what careful consideration he acted towards a Republican official. He did indeed move slowly, but none the less surely and determinedly towards the removal of this officer. Shaler was accused of bribery and twice tried in a criminal court. In both trials the jury failed to agree, a plain conclusion to every unprejudiced mind that the charges had not been proven. After the District Attorney had nol prosequied the indictment the Governor removed Shaler, when he should have permitted him to remain in office. On what ground did he base his removal? Not on even the assumption that the charges had been proved, for he admits that they had not. He even goes so far as to express doubt of the propriety of removing him at all as the case then stood, for he said:

> Whether Shaler can properly be removed from one office for offenses committed in another office or in another official capacity, or whether the provisions of sections 57 and 59 of the Consolidation act can be applied to his case so that he can be deemed to have violated those sections, and thereby subjected himself to removal without first having been convicted by a jury, are legal questions which are not free from difficulty.

Then, after confessing that he was not sure of having either propriety or law on his side, he makes the removal solely on the ground of "Shaler's usefulness as a public official having been greatly impaired." He had the fact to fall back upon after trial and failure to convict, that the accusations had given rise to scandal. Shaler stood infinitely better before the people of his city and state than before the trials took place, but he was a Republican, and Hill wanted his office. Simmered down to its correct proportions, this was the sole reason left the Governor for making the removal. But he does not yet discover that Flack's "usefulness as a public official has been greatly impaired." The scandal concerning him has been a thousand times more infamous than the worst ever said about Shaler, and every word has proved itself so thoroughly that Tammany kicks him out, but such things, we must conclude, do not in the Governor's opinion impair the usefulness of a Democratic official.

Well, if the Democratic party can stand the Governor's conduct and afford to defend it, certainly no Republican has occasion to complain. The Governor will wait in vain for some Republican to appear before him and formulate charges against Flack. Every intelligent Republican understands that Flack is to be allowed to remain in office till after the 15th of October, when Hill can appoint his successor for a full year, instead of having him voted out of office on next election day. When the time agreed upon arrives Gov. Hill will not wait for sworn charges against Flack, but will call for his resignation and will get it. He could have the resignation to-day for the asking but does not want it. And New York is left with the cheering prospect of having for its Sheriff a man under indictment for one of the foulest and most odious crimes that ever stained the records of criminal procedure.

TOO GUILELESS BY HALF.

If the sensation which all the New York newspapers contain to-day in regard to the Hamilton case is true, then Mr. Hamilton must be set down as what is sometimes described in derision as an "innocent," and in the Pennsylvania vernacular as an "ornery." It is related that Mrs. Hamilton, while she was living with Josh Mann as his wife and also receiving the attentions of Hamilton, purchased four bogus babies in succession to impose upon Hamilton as his own. The first baby was shown to Hamilton, and the interesting information imparted to him that he was its father. Eva fell upon her knees and implored him for the sake of his child to marry her, promising to be a good wife and devoted mother. The sight of the baby melted the young lawmaker, and he promised marriage. Then he went away, and in a few days the baby died. A second one was procured before the burial of the first, but it died before the happy "father" could see it. Then a third was purchased for $10, but as it was a brunette Eva objected to the "black brat," saying Hamilton would know that it was not the baby that he had seen. It cost her $5 to induce the midwife to take it back. The fourth one was then secured and still lives, and is the "darling Beatrice" for whose sake Hamilton married Eva and has since declared his determination to stand by her in her stabbing difficulty. The assistants of the woman in this "put up job" upon Hamilton were Mother Swinton and her son Josh Mann, and both have been placed under arrest. Eva told the physician who was called to treat one of the babies which died, that she would lose $100,000 if he failed to save its life.

Though Hamilton knew by the woman's confession the shameless life she had lived, he appears to have been led to admit himself as the one man among thousands who was responsible for the baby's life. Mr. Hamilton is 38 years old. Is there "no fool like an old fool?" Or was the paternal instinct within him so flattered that he was pleased with the first opportunity to call a pretty baby his own? It is probable that he will discard Eva and leave her to her vicious ways. But there is perhaps enough of manly resentment in his nature to not turn his back upon Mother Swinton and Josh Mann until he sees them comfortably housed in the New Jersey prison.

PUBLIC OPINION.

Does "inequitable and oppressive sumptuary legislation" lay a tax of $5,000,000 on our farmers and other honest and hard-working citizens? Does "inequitable and oppressive sumptuary legislation" crowd our jails, poorhouses and prisons? Does "inequitable and oppressive sumptuary legislation" add thousands of recruits yearly to our criminal classes, making our large cities hot-beds of ignorance and vice? Does "inequitable and oppressive sumptuary legislation" make drunken husbands, cause the beating of wives, the strangling of babes and the thousand nameless crimes that come from intemperance? Does "inequitable and oppressive sumptuary legislation" fill our land with misery and disease?—Albany Journal.

The New York Sun informs Governor Hill that his recent increase of police justices in the city has not led to any increase of courts, or promptness of trying cases—a reform which was much needed. It has simply afforded the police judges a chance to get longer vacations than usual all round. It was demonstrated clearly enough before the increase bill was signed that the police justices were not busy half the time. But Governor Hill thought he saw some partisan advantage in the bill, and his concern for the dear taxpayers was held in leash for an educational or debt paying measure.—Utica Herald.

Any fool might go over the falls of Niagara in a barrel, so that there is nothing marvelous about Cooper Graham's feat save that he survived it. But let some seeker after fame devise a plan of ascending the falls in a like way, and he will have solved a difficult problem in hydrostatics.—Philadelphia Record.

AN IRON BOOM.

How the Assurance of Continued Protection Works—More Employment and Better Wages.

[From the Albany Journal.]

Those who assert that the assurance that the tariff is not to be tinkered in the interests of free trade has no effect on the iron business, are respectfully requested to note a few things that happened at and near Reading, Pennsylvania, yesterday. There was a big industrial boom there.

The rolling mill, pipe and tube mills and foundry of the Reading Iron Company, after an idleness of six months, resumed operations, and in a week will be running full handed, when 2,000 men will again be employed. The wages of puddlers have been put up to $3.70 per ton.

McIlvane's rolling mill resumed, the puddlers' wages being increased from $3.25 to $3.70 per ton.

Beginning yesterday S. R. Seyfert's puddlers at Seyfert's Station, in the same county, had their wages raised to $4 per ton, the highest paid in the Schuylkill valley.

At Pottstown the puddlers of the Potts Iron Company commenced working at an increase of from $3.25 to $3.50 per ton.

The Glasgow Iron Company's puddlers are now working at the same increase.

The sum of the matter is that for years the iron trade has never been brisker. The mills are beginning to run again on full time, giving steady work, and wages are being raised all along the line. When the Democrats were trying to smash the tariff every man was timid, not knowing whether his business would be knocked into a cocked hat within the next six months. But we have changed all that. Republican ascendancy means prosperity.

OUR HAZY ATMOSPHERE.

Not Indian Summer, but the Smoke of Northwestern Fires.

[From the New York Tribune.]

Indian summer has been prematurely hinted at in some of the Eastern States for the last few days by hazy skies, and, late in the afternoon, an orange-tinted sun, at which one may gaze steadily without harm to the naked eyes. The veil is not fog nor mist. The hygrometer shows that. More likely it is smoke. And it is not improbable that it comes from forest fires in the far Northwest. The surface winds hereabouts have blown from the north, east and southwest most of the time, but the upper aerial currents, which would be more likely to bear the impalpable dust which causes this autumnal phenomenon, have come pretty steadily from the direction of Michigan, Minnesota and Wisconsin, and the atmospheric obscuration seems to have been noticed in Rochester and Albany, in this state, a day or so before it became conspicuous near New York. The lack of rain, which in this immediate vicinity has now lasted ten days, has permitted a continuation of this condition of the atmosphere. No doubt a sharp shower would clear things up effectually for a time.

BEST IN THE WORLD.

Further Great Cures of Skin Diseases by Cuticura Remedies.

Boy one year and a half old. Face and body in a terrible condition, being covered with sores. Sulphur springs fail. Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

I have used your Cuticura Remedies in two cases where it proved to be successful. The first was in the case of a boy a year and a half old. His face and body were in a terrible condition, the former being completely covered with sores. I took him to the Massena Sulphur Springs, but he did not improve any. I was then advised to try the Cuticura Remedies, which I did. He took one and one half bottles of Cuticura Resolvant, when his skin was as smooth as could be, and is to-day. I used the Cuticura on his sores and the Cuticura Soap in washing him. He is now five years of age and all right. The other case was a disease of the scalp, which was cured by washing with the Cuticura Soap and rubbing in the Cuticura, one bottle of Cuticura Resolvent being used. They have proved successful in every case where I have advised the use of them. It is surprising how rapidly a child will improve under their treatment. I recommend them for any disease of the skin as being the best in the world. This is my experience, and I am ready to stand by my statement.

An Unbearable Skin Disease Cured.

I have been afflicted since last March with a skin disease the doctors called Eczema. My face was covered with scabs and sores, and the itching and burning were almost unbearable. Seeing your Cuticura Remedies so highly recommended, concluded to give them a trial, using the Cuticura and Cuticura Soap externally, and Resolvent internally four months. I call myself cured, in gratitude for which I make this public statement.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH.

Cure Begins from First Application, and is Rapid, Radical And Permanent.

It is the mucous membrane, that wonderful semi-fluid envelope surrounding the delicate tissues of the air and food passages, that Catarrh makes its stronghold. Once established, it eats into the very vitals, and renders life but a long-drawn breath of misery and disease, dulling the sense of hearing, trammeling the power of speech, destroying the faculty of smell, tainting the breath, and killing the refined pleasures of taste. Insidiously, by creeping on from a simple cold in the head, it assaults the membranous lining and envelopes the bones, eating through the delicate coats and causing inflammation, sloughing and other dangerous symptoms. Nothing short of total eradication will secure health to the patient, and all alleviatives are simply procrastinated sufferings. Sanford's Radical Cure, by Inhalation and by Internal administration, rarely fails; even when the disease has made frightful inroads on delicate constitutions, hearing, smell, and taste have been recovered, and the disease throughly driven out.

Sanford's Radical Cure for Catarrh

Consists of one bottle of the Radical Cure, one box Catarrhal Solvent, and Improved Inhaler, all in one package; price $1. Ask for Sanford's Radical Cure. Sold everywhere.

HILL AND FLACK.

The Rochester Union, which has undertaken the defense of Gov. Hill's inactivity in the Flack case, thus lays down the course to be pursued before that official can remove the offending Sheriff from office:

> The Governor has not the power, arbitrarily and at will, to perform the functions of prosecutor, Judge, jury and executioner in his case. The Governor is empowered by the constitution to remove a Sheriff during his term, but only upon charges against him and served upon him, and an opportunity of defense being given him. It is not contemplated that the Governor shall be his accuser, but that he shall constitute the tribunal before which accusation shall be made, and which shall hear and pass upon the same. If the Republican newspapers in question are particularly anxious for the removal of Sheriff Flack, and know, as they think they do, that he should be removed, they ought to stop their nonsensical talk and go straightway before the Governor and make and swear to their charges

That is to say, the Governor has not the constitutional power to act, till somebody comes before him with a few details of the scandal and does some swearing. He need not be an official; he may be any individual, even the humblest Republican in the state. But until he appears and delivers his oath or oaths, the Governor is powerless to act. He may not take the initiative. To do so would be to constitute himself "prosecutor, judge jury and executioner."

Now it is nobody's business in particular to formulate these charges before the Governor. The constitution, which gives the executive the power to remove certain officers, including the Sheriff, does not designate who shall take the initiative or indicate any form of procedure. The constitution merely provides in general terms that if a Sheriff is found unfit for the office or unworthy of it, the Governor is to remove him. We quote all that the constitution says upon this point: "The Governor may remove any officer in this section mentioned, within the term for which he shall have been elected, giving to such officer a copy of the charges against him, and an opportunity of being heard in his defense." Where is the requirement here that somebody must come before the Governor with formal charges and swear to them? Where is there a word to indicate that he may not proceed to act upon the charges that he has seen in the newspapers?

Unfortunately, the Governor is not limited to newspaper testimony in this case. He has read the declarations and the depositions of Mrs. Flack. He has seen the admissions of crooked procedure by Meek, Monell and others. He has read of the resignations of Flack and the other conspirators from Tammany, and the declarations of Tammany leaders that they are unworthy of membership in their party. He has seen printed fac similes of documents in the case, which lead to the inevitable conclusion that forgery was committed and connived at to bolster up the conspiracy. In the face of these facts we can fancy the Governor sitting helpless in Albany, wringing his hands, and wondering why somebody does not come along with a string of charges and affidavits. He is anxious to act, but nobody appears to be willing to take the initiative and give him a starting point. He does not wish to exercise all the functions of prosecutor, judge, jury and executioner; the labor is presumably too heavy and the responsibility too great. But the constitution does make him all these. He may prepare the charges himself. He may hand them in person to the accused official. He may summon him to appear and show cause why he should not be removed. And though the reasons which the man presents may be conclusive in his favor in the opinion of every man in the state except the Governor, he may remove him at his own discretion.

The Union quotes from the Governor's memorandum in the Shaler case to show with what careful consideration he acted towards a Republican official. He did indeed move slowly, but none the less surely and determinedly towards the removal of this officer. Shaler was accused of bribery and twice tried in a criminal court. In both trials the jury failed to agree, a plain conclusion to every unprejudiced mind that the charges had not been proven. After the District Attorney had nol prosequied the indictment the Governor removed Shaler, when he should have permitted him to remain in office. On what ground did he base his removal? Not on even the assumption that the charges had been proved, for he admits that they had not. He even goes so far as to express doubt of the propriety of removing him at all as the case then stood, for he said:

> Whether Shaler can properly be removed from one office for offenses committed in another office or in another official capacity, or whether the provisions of sections 57 and 59 of the Consolidation act can be applied to his case so that he can be deemed to have violated those sections, and thereby subjected himself to removal without first having been convicted by a jury, are legal questions which are not free from difficulty.

Then, after confessing that he was not sure of having either propriety or law on his side, he makes the removal solely on the ground of "Shaler's usefulness as a public official having been greatly impaired." He had the fact to fall back upon after trial and failure to convict, that the accusations had given rise to scandal. Shaler stood infinitely better before the people of his city and state than before the trials took place, but he was a Republican, and Hill wanted his office. Simmered down to its correct proportions, this was the sole reason left the Governor for making the removal. But he does not yet discover that Flack's "usefulness as a public official has been greatly impaired." The scandal concerning him has been a thousand times more infamous than the worst ever said about Shaler, and every word has proved itself so thoroughly that Tammany kicks him out, but such things, we must conclude, do not in the Governor's opinion impair the usefulness of a Democratic official.

Well, if the Democratic party can stand the Governor's conduct and afford to defend it, certainly no Republican has occasion to complain. The Governor will wait in vain for some Republican to appear before him and formulate charges against Flack. Every intelligent Republican understands that Flack is to be allowed to remain in office till after the 15th of October, when Hill can appoint his successor for a full year, instead of having him voted out of office on next election day. When the time agreed upon arrives Gov. Hill will not wait for sworn charges against Flack, but will call for his resignation and will get it. He could have the resignation to-day for the asking but does not want it. And New York is left with the cheering prospect of having for its Sheriff a man under indictment for one of the foulest and most odious crimes that ever stained the records of criminal procedure.

TOO GUILELESS BY HALF.

If the sensation which all the New York newspapers contain to-day in regard to the Hamilton case is true, then Mr. Hamilton must be set down as what is sometimes described in derision as an "innocent," and in the Pennsylvania vernacular as an "ornery." It is related that Mrs. Hamilton, while she was living with Josh Mann as his wife and also receiving the attentions of Hamilton, purchased four bogus babies in succession to impose upon Hamilton as his own. The first baby was shown to Hamilton, and the interesting information imparted to him that he was its father. Eva fell upon her knees and implored him for the sake of his child to marry her, promising to be a good wife and devoted mother. The sight of the baby melted the young lawmaker, and he promised marriage. Then he went away, and in a few days the baby died. A second one was procured before the burial of the first, but it died before the happy "father" could see it. Then a third was purchased for $10, but as it was a brunette Eva objected to the "black brat," saying Hamilton would know that it was not the baby that he had seen. It cost her $5 to induce the midwife to take it back. The fourth one was then secured and still lives, and is the "darling Beatrice" for whose sake Hamilton married Eva and has since declared his determination to stand by her in her stabbing difficulty. The assistants of the woman in this "put up job" upon Hamilton were Mother Swinton and her son Josh Mann, and both have been placed under arrest. Eva told the physician who was called to treat one of the babies which died, that she would lose $100,000 if he failed to save its life.

Though Hamilton knew by the woman's confession the shameless life she had lived, he appears to have been led to admit himself as the one man among thousands who was responsible for the baby's life. Mr. Hamilton is 38 years old. Is there "no fool like an old fool?" Or was the paternal instinct within him so flattered that he was pleased with the first opportunity to call a pretty baby his own? It is probable that he will discard Eva and leave her to her vicious ways. But there is perhaps enough of manly resentment in his nature to not turn his back upon Mother Swinton and Josh Mann until he sees them comfortably housed in the New Jersey prison.

PUBLIC OPINION.

Does "inequitable and oppressive sumptuary legislation" lay a tax of $5,000,000 on our farmers and other honest and hard-working citizens? Does "inequitable and oppressive sumptuary legislation" crowd our jails, poorhouses and prisons? Does "inequitable and oppressive sumptuary legislation" add thousands of recruits yearly to our criminal classes, making our large cities hot-beds of ignorance and vice? Does "inequitable and oppressive sumptuary legislation" make drunken husbands, cause the beating of wives, the strangling of babes and the thousand nameless crimes that come from intemperance? Does "inequitable and oppressive sumptuary legislation" fill our land with misery and disease?—Albany Journal.

The New York Sun informs Governor Hill that his recent increase of police justices in the city has not led to any increase of courts, or promptness of trying cases—a reform which was much needed. It has simply afforded the police judges a chance to get longer vacations than usual all round. It was demonstrated clearly enough before the increase bill was signed that the police justices were not busy half the time. But Governor Hill thought he saw some partisan advantage in the bill, and his concern for the dear taxpayers was held in leash for an educational or debt paying measure.—Utica Herald.

Any fool might go over the falls of Niagara in a barrel, so that there is nothing marvelous about Cooper Graham's feat save that he survived it. But let some seeker after fame devise a plan of ascending the falls in a like way, and he will have solved a difficult problem in hydrostatics.—Philadelphia Record.

AN IRON BOOM.

How the Assurance of Continued Protection Works — More Employment and Better Wages.

[From the Albany Journal.]

Those who assert that the assurance that the tariff is not to be tinkered in the interests of free trade has no effect on the iron business, are respectfully requested to note a few things that happened at and near Reading, Pennsylvania, yesterday. There was a big industrial boom there.

The rolling mill, pipe and tube mills and foundry of the Reading Iron Company, after an idleness of six months, resumed operations, and in a week will be running full handed, when 2,000 men will again be employed. The wages of puddlers have been put up to $3.70 per ton.

McIlvane's rolling mill resumed, the puddlers' wages being increased from $3.25 to $3.70 per ton.

Beginning yesterday S. R. Seyfert's puddlers at Seyfert's Station, in the same county, had their wages raised to $4 per ton, the highest paid in the Schuylkill valley.

At Pottstown the puddlers of the Potts Iron Company commenced working at an increase of from $3.25 to $3.50 per ton.

The Glasgow Iron Company's puddlers are now working at the same increase.

The sum of the matter is that for years the iron trade has never been brisker. The mills are beginning to run again on full time, giving steady work, and wages are being raised all along the line. When the Democrats were trying to smash the tariff every man was timid, not knowing whether his business would be knocked into a cocked hat within the next six months. But we have changed all that. Republican ascendancy means prosperity.

OUR HAZY ATMOSPHERE.

Not Indian Summer, but the Smoke of Northwestern Fires.

[From the New York Tribune.]

Indian summer has been prematurely hinted at in some of the Eastern States for the last few days by hazy skies, and, late in the afternoon, an orange-tinted sun, at which one may gaze steadily without harm to the naked eyes. The veil is not fog nor mist. The hygrometer shows that. More likely it is smoke. And it is not improbable that it comes from forest fires in the far Northwest. The surface winds hereabouts have blown from the north, east and southwest most of the time, but the upper aerial currents, which would be more likely to bear the impalpable dust which causes this autumnal phenomenon, have come pretty steadily from the direction of Michigan, Minnesota and Wisconsin, and the atmospheric obscuration seems to have been noticed in Rochester and Albany, in this state, a day or so before it became conspicuous near New York. The lack of rain, which in this immediate vicinity has now lasted ten days, has permitted a continuation of this condition of the atmosphere. No doubt a sharp shower would clear things up effectually for a time.

BEST IN THE WORLD.

Further Great Cures of Skin Diseases by Cuticura Remedies.

Boy one year and a half old. Face and body in a terrible condition, being covered with sores. Sulphur springs fail. Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

I have used your Cuticura Remedies in two cases where it proved to be successful. The first was in the case of a boy a year and a half old. His face and body were in a terrible condition, the former being completely covered with sores. I took him to the Massena Sulphur Springs, but he did not improve any. I was then advised to try the Cuticura Remedies, which I did. He took one and one half bottles of Cuticura Resolvant, when his skin was as smooth as could be, and is to-day. I used the Cuticura on his sores and the Cuticura Soap in washing him. He is now five years of age and all right. The other case was a disease of the scalp, which was cured by washing with the Cuticura Soap and rubbing in the Cuticura, one bottle of Cuticura Resolvent being used. They have proved successful in every case where I have advised the use of them. It is surprising how rapidly a child will improve under their treatment. I recommend them for any disease of the skin as being the best in the world. This is my experience, and I am ready to stand by my statement.

An Unbearable Skin Disease Cured.

I have been afflicted since last March with a skin disease the doctors called Eczema. My face was covered with scabs and sores, and the itching and burning were almost unbearable. Seeing your Cuticura Remedies so highly recommended, concluded to give them a trial, using the Cuticura and Cuticura Soap externally, and Resolvent internally four months. I call myself cured, in gratitude for which I make this public statement.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH.

Cure Begins from First Application, and is Rapid, Radical And Permanent.

It is the mucous membrane, that wonderful semi-fluid envelope surrounding the delicate tissues of the air and food passages, that Catarrh makes its stronghold. Once established, it eats into the very vitals, and renders life but a long-drawn breath of misery and disease, dulling the sense of hearing, trammeling the power of speech, destroying the faculty of smell, tainting the breath, and killing the refined pleasures of taste. Insidiously, by creeping on from a simple cold in the head, it assaults the membranous lining and envelopes the bones, eating through the delicate coats and causing inflammation, sloughing and other dangerous symptoms. Nothing short of total eradication will secure health to the patient, and all alleviatives are simply procrastinated sufferings. Sanford's Radical Cure, by Inhalation and by Internal administration, rarely fails; even when the disease has made frightful inroads on delicate constitutions, hearing, smell, and taste have been recovered, and the disease throughly driven out.

Sanford's Radical Cure for Catarrh

Consists of one bottle of the Radical Cure, one box Catarrhal Solvent, and Improved Inhaler, all in one package; price $1. Ask for Sanford's Radical Cure. Sold everywhere

Is There a Distinct Type of Criminals?—Two Young Ladies Attacked by Bears—Chat About Prominent People—A Negro Curiosity—Some of To-Day's Happenings.

The members of the Anthropological Congress, which has been held in Paris, seem to have been somewhat perplexed by the vastness of the subject with which they had to deal. The problem propounded for discussion was the same as that which was placed before the first Anthropological Congress, held in Rome four years ago—the mental and physical differentiation between habitual criminals and persons of good morals and exemplary conduct. Dr. Lombroso, the famous specialist in criminality from Turin, was of opinion that there existed a distinct type of criminal man, just as a savage type is still to be met with. From his post-mortem examinations of the bodies of criminals he found that all the subjects presented the same characteristics—wide eye-orbits, prominent cheek-bones, distended nostrils, and other anatomical appearances which were also so peculiar to savages. Crime, in Dr. Lombroso's opinion, was also the result of atavism to a great extent. Other Italian physicians corroborated these observations. Dr. Frigerio, of Alessandria, maintaining that criminals were always, according to his observations in Italy, exceedingly sharp-sighted, while their faculties of taste and smell were less developed than was the case in "healthy" people. Signor Ottolenghi, of Turin, however, had a slightly different opinion, maintaining that the hearing was the most strongly developed faculty possessed by malefactors of every degree. All these theories of the Italian savants were opposed strongly by M. Manouvrier, of Paris, who argued that there were no characteristics by which criminals as a class or type could be distinguished from other men. It was of course, true that certain kinds of anatomical characterization were found most frequently among criminals, but he objected to too much generalization in the matter. He held that, in order to arrive at anything like definite conclusions, it would be necessary to take average specimens of criminals and compare them anatomically to average types of virtuous people. Herein, however, there was a great difficulty in the way of the criminal specialist, as among the virtuous or decent people there were cruel, brutal or knavish types not coming, by bad actions, under the ban of the law. M. Manouvrier, finally, was of opinion that the physiological phases of criminals should be taken in conjunction with their anatomical characteristics before anything could be arrived at, and that the corporeal structure of malefactors should be studied in conjunction with their surroundings, education, descent and inherent inclinations. In some instances crime might be superinduced by good or great qualities of mind or body, and hindered by bad ones. Thus, strong persons are inclined to brutality; handsome persons to excess in love; while Genius itself, when not kept within bounds, was often predisposed to crime. After this discussion, the much-debated question was left nearly in statu quo, and its further elucidation is hoped for when anthropologists shall have extended their researches in asylums for the insane, and made frequent examinations of the dead bodies of malefactors. Before the Congress separated a Lyons doctor, in a report on the influence of the professions on crime, stated that the largest percentage of malefactors who belonged to the better classes was among agricultural and trading people. On the whole, the anthropologists—to judge from the reports of their meetings—do not seem to have made much progress since their inaugural Congress in 1885; but they are engaged in a useful work, which may hereafter bring forth excellent fruit for the benefit of humanity.

A story was told in Inspector Byrnes' office, in Police Headquarters, New-York City, last night, which places three conspirators—Robert Ray Hamilton's wife, Mrs. Swinton and Joshua T. Mann—under a calcium light. It establishes the fact that the child which Mr. Hamilton believed to be his offspring came from a midwife's, and was foisted on him basely and heartlessly. It gives more of the shameful history of Swinton, Mann and company, and is so convincing that Mr. Hamilton is said to have come to his senses, and will endeavor to atone for his folly by allowing the law to proceed against Mrs. Swinton and "Josh" Mann for palming off the child on him and for conspiracy. It appears that a counter conspiracy against Mr. Hamilton was gotten up by friends who thought too well of him and his name to allow them to be any longer sullied by contact with the creatures who got him into their clutches. Among these friends were Elihu Root and Charles A. Peabody, Jr. Thursday last Mr. Root called on Inspector Byrnes and asked him to meet him at the residence of one of Mr. Hamilton's friends to discuss his associations with Mrs. Swinton, Eva and Mann. Inspector Byrnes met Mr. Root, his partner, Samuel B. Clarke, and others, and, at their request, consented to "sift fine" Mrs. Swinton, Mann and Eva. He started in with the belief that Mr. Hamilton was forced to marry Eva by her statement that her honor and her child's were at stake; in other words, he believed her and acted like a gentleman. Learning that she said that she gave birth to a girl in Elmira on December 17, 1888, and that she was attended by Dr. Burnett Morse, a physician of good repute, Mr. Byrnes sent Detective Sergeant McNaught to Elmira. He reported that Eva lived in Elmira in a hotel and in boarding houses with Joshua Mann and that they passed as a married couple. Dr. Morse remembered that he attended her for cramps of the stomach, but he was sure that she did not at that time give birth to a child, and there were no indications that she was likely to become a mother. Mrs. Swinton and her son, Joshua Mann, are prisoners at Police Headquarters.

The question having been asked Attorney General Tabor, of this State, whether a person who voted at the general election against the Presidential nominee of his party, and who subsequently at a town meeting voted with his party, can be prevented from voting with his party at a caucus held to nominate county officers for the ensuing election, Attorney-General Tabor has given the following opinion: "The meaning of the statute seems to me to be: First, each party or association holding the primary may prescribe its own rules and regulations for the purpose of determining the qualifications necessary to entitle a person to vote thereat. Second, that no association or party can, however, make any rule or regulation which shall authorize the electors of the opposite party to vote at their caucus or primary. So that, in the absence of any rule or regulation fixing the qualifications of the person offering his vote, if he testifies under oath as to his political affiliation with and belief in the principles of the political party at whose primary he offers his vote, I am of the opinion that the vote should be received. It is not the object of the statute, in my judgment, to prescribe any certain or fixed action of the voter as a qualification or rule for the determination of his right to vote, but it was the intention manifestly, to prevent the admitted and recognized adherents of one party from voting at the primaries of another."

The Archæological Institute of America makes an appeal to the public for $75,000, to be used in prosecuting investigations of the ancient site of Delphi in Greece. The permission of the Greek Government to undertake these investigations has been obtained provided sufficient money is raised before the first of next December, for the removal of the village of Kastri, now standing on this site. The members of the Institute, says the appeal, "trust that every one interested in the progress of classical studies in America, every one who recognizes his own indebtedness to Greece for the most precious gifts of civilization, will contribute according to his means to the proposed work. They will be glad to receive contributions of any amount." Fuller information as to the project will be given, and correspondence regarding its advancement is invited, by William C. Lawton, Secretary, Cambridge, Mass.

In Elbert County, near Craft's Ferry, on the Savannah River, Ga., lives a Negro, who goes by the name of "Sheep Jess," who is a curiosity. His hair and whiskers are perfectly white, and almost cover his head and face, leaving only small patches of dark skin around his eyes and nose, and are a perfect imitation of sheep's wool. His hair [or wool] grows rapidly, and his wife shears him every two weeks, thereby realizing enough wool to supply Jess, his wife and five children with stockings the year round, and sells enough socks to supply them with sugar and coffee. His wife has nearly enough of the finest part of the wool saved to make cloth for a suit of clothes for Jess next winter. He is about 35 years old.

In Strawberry Valley, Cal., recently, two young ladies went into the woods to search for ferns, accompanied by an English mastiff. While seated on a log in an isolated part of the forest, quite a distance from their home, they were approached by a cinnamon bear. At the sight of their visitor the girls started to run toward home, screaming at the top of their voices and followed by Bruin. The mastiff was not afraid and caught hold of the bear by the neck. A desperate struggle took place and only ended when two men arrived on the scene and shot the bear. The dog was so badly mangled that it was feared it would die.

They are both honest, God-fearing men, for there was hair on their eyes yesterday. They can generally see straight, but yesterday they couldn't tell a centennial ball from a street-car strike."

Is There a Distinct Type of Criminals?—Two Young Ladies Attacked by Bears—Chat About Prominent People—A Negro Curiosity—Some of To-Day's Happenings.

The members of the Anthropological Congress, which has been held in Paris, seem to have been somewhat perplexed by the vastness of the subject with which they had to deal. The problem propounded for discussion was the same as that which was placed before the first Anthropological Congress, held in Rome four years ago—the mental and physical differentiation between habitual criminals and persons of good morals and exemplary conduct. Dr. Lombroso, the famous specialist in criminality from Turin, was of opinion that there existed a distinct type of criminal man, just as a savage type is still to be met with. From his post-mortem examinations of the bodies of criminals he found that all the subjects presented the same characteristics—wide eye-orbits, prominent cheek-bones, distended nostrils, and other anatomical appearances which were also peculiar to savages. Crime, in Dr. Lombroso's opinion, was also the result of atavism to a great extent. Other Italian physicians corroborated these observations. Dr. Frigerio, of Alessandria, maintaining that criminals were always, according to his observations in Italy, exceedingly sharp-sighted, while their faculties of taste and smell were less developed than was the case in "healthy" people. Signor Ottolenghi, of Turin, however, had a slightly different opinion, maintaining that the hearing was the most strongly developed faculty possessed by malefactors of every degree. All these theories of the Italian savants were opposed strongly by M. Manouvrier, of Paris, who argued that there were no characteristics by which criminals as a class or type could be distinguished from other men. It was of course, true that certain kinds of anatomical characterization were found most frequently among criminals, but he objected to too much generalization in the matter. He held that, in order to arrive at anything like definite conclusions, it would be necessary to take average specimens of criminals and compare them anatomically to average types of virtuous people. Herein, however, there was a great difficulty in the way of the criminal specialist, as among the virtuous or decent people there were cruel, brutal or knavish types not coming, by bad actions, under the ban of the law. M. Manouvrier, finally, was of opinion that the physiological phases of criminals should be taken in conjunction with their anatomical characteristics before anything could be arrived at, and that the corporeal structure of malefactors should be studied in conjunction with their surroundings, education, descent and inherent inclinations. In some instances crime might be superinduced by good or great qualities of mind or body, and hindered by bad ones. Thus, strong persons are inclined to brutality; handsome persons to excess in love; while Genius itself, when not kept within bounds, was often predisposed to crime. After this discussion, the much-debated question was left nearly in statu quo, and its further elucidation is hoped for when anthropologists shall have extended their researches in asylums for the insane, and made frequent examinations of the dead bodies of malefactors. Before the Congress separated a Lyons doctor, in a report on the influence of the professions on crime, stated that the largest percentage of malefactors who belonged to the better classes was among agricultural and trading people. On the whole, the anthropologists—to judge from the reports of their meetings—do not seem to have made much progress since their inaugural Congress in 1885; but they are engaged in a useful work, which may hereafter bring forth excellent fruit for the benefit of humanity.

A story was told in Inspector Byrnes' office, in Police Headquarters, New-York City, last night, which places three conspirators—Robert Ray Hamilton's wife, Mrs. Swinton and Joshua T. Mann—under a calcium light. It establishes the fact that the child which Mr. Hamilton believed to be his offspring came from a midwife's, and was foisted on him basely and heartlessly. It gives more of the shameful history of Swinton, Mann and company, and is so convincing that Mr. Hamilton is said to have come to his senses, and will endeavor to atone for his folly by allowing the law to proceed against Mrs. Swinton and "Josh" Mann for palming off the child on him and for conspiracy. It appears that a counter conspiracy against Mr. Hamilton was gotten up by friends who thought too well of him and his name to allow them to be any longer sullied by contact with the creatures who got him into their clutches. Among these friends were Elihu Root and Charles A. Peabody, Jr. Thursday last Mr. Root called on Inspector Byrnes and asked him to meet him at the residence of one of Mr. Hamilton's friends to discuss his associations with Mrs. Swinton, Eva and Mann. Inspector Byrnes met Mr. Root, his partner, Samuel B. Clarke, and others, and, at their request, consented to "sift fine" Mrs. Swinton, Mann and Eva. He started in with the belief that Mr. Hamilton was forced to marry Eva by her statement that her honor and her child's were at stake; in other words, he believed her and acted like a gentleman. Learning that she said that she gave birth to a girl in Elmira on December 17, 1888, and that she was attended by Dr. Burnett Morse, a physician of good repute, Mr. Byrnes sent Detective Sergeant McNaught to Elmira. He reported that Eva lived in Elmira in a hotel and in boarding houses with Joshua Mann and that they passed as a married couple. Dr. Morse remembered that he attended her for cramps of the stomach, but he was sure that she did not at that time give birth to a child, and there were no indications that she was likely to become a mother. The question having been asked Attorney General Tabor, of this State, whether a person who voted at the general election against the Presidential nominee of his party, and who subsequently at a town meeting voted with his party, can be prevented from voting with his party at a caucus held to nominate county officers for the ensuing election, Attorney-General Tabor has given the following opinion: "The meaning of the statute seems to me to be: First, each party or association holding the primary may prescribe its own rules and regulations for the purpose of determining the qualifications necessary to entitle a person to vote thereat. Second, that no association or party can, however, make any rule or regulation which shall authorize the electors of the opposite party to vote at their caucus or primary. So that, in the absence of any rule or regulation fixing the qualifications of the person offering his vote, if he testifies under oath as to his political affiliation with and belief in the principles of the political party at whose primary he offers his vote, I am of the opinion that the vote should be received. It is not the object of the statute, in my judgment, to prescribe any certain or fixed action of the voter as a qualification or rule for the determination of his right to vote, but it was the intention manifestly, to prevent the admitted and recognized adherents of one party from voting at the primaries of another."

The permission of the Greek Government to undertake these investigations has been obtained provided sufficient money is raised before the first of next December, for the removal of the village of Kastri, now standing on this site. The members of the Institute, says the appeal, "trust that every one interested in the progress of classical studies in America, every one who recognizes his own indebtedness to Greece for the most precious gifts of civilization, will contribute according to his means to the proposed work. They will be glad to receive contributions of any amount." Fuller information as to the project will be given, and correspondence regarding its advancement is invited, by William C. Lawton, Secretary, Cambridge, Mass.

In Elbert County, near Craft's Ferry, on the Savannah River, Ga., lives a Negro, who goes by the name of "Sheep Jess," who is a curiosity. His hair and whiskers are perfectly white, and almost cover his head and face, leaving only small patches of dark skin around his eyes and nose, and are a perfect imitation of sheep's wool. His hair [or wool] grows rapidly, and his wife shears him every two weeks, thereby realizing enough wool to supply Jess, his wife and five children with stockings the year round, and sells enough socks to supply them with sugar and coffee. Is There a Distinct Type of Criminals?—Two Young Ladies Attacked by Bears—Chat About Prominent People—A Negro Curiosity—Some of To-Day's Happenings.

The members of the Anthropological Congress, which has been held in Paris, seem to have been somewhat perplexed by the vastness of the subject with which they had to deal. The problem propounded for discussion was the same as that which was placed before the first Anthropological Congress, held in Rome four years ago—the mental and physical differentiation between habitual criminals and persons of good morals and exemplary conduct. Dr. Lombroso, the famous specialist in criminality from Turin, was of opinion that there existed a distinct type of criminal man, just as a savage type is still to be met with. From his post-mortem examinations of the bodies of criminals he found that all the subjects presented the same characteristics—wide eye-orbits, prominent cheek-bones, distended nostrils, and other anatomical appearances which were also peculiar to savages. Crime, in Dr. Lombroso's opinion, was also the result of atavism to a great extent. Other Italian physicians corroborated these observations. Dr. Frigerio, of Alessandria, maintaining that criminals were always, according to his observations in Italy, exceedingly sharp-sighted, while their faculties of taste and smell were less developed than was the case in "healthy" people. Signor Ottolenghi, of Turin, however, had a slightly different opinion, maintaining that the hearing was the most strongly developed faculty possessed by malefactors of every degree. All these theories of the Italian savants were opposed strongly by M. Manouvrier, of Paris, who argued that there were no characteristics by which criminals as a class or type could be distinguished from other men. It was of course, true that certain kinds of anatomical characterization were found most frequently among criminals, but he objected to too much generalization in the matter. He held that, in order to arrive at anything like definite conclusions, it would be necessary to take average specimens of criminals and compare them anatomically to average types of virtuous people. Herein, however, there was a great difficulty in the way of the criminal specialist, as among the virtuous or decent people there were cruel, brutal or knavish types not coming, by bad actions, under the ban of the law. M. Manouvrier, finally, was of opinion that the physiological phases of criminals should be taken in conjunction with their anatomical characteristics before anything could be arrived at, and that the corporeal structure of malefactors should be studied in conjunction with their surroundings, education, descent and inherent inclinations. In some instances crime might be superinduced by good or great qualities of mind or body, and hindered by bad ones. Thus, strong persons are inclined to brutality; handsome persons to excess in love; while Genius itself, when not kept within bounds, was often predisposed to crime. After this discussion, the much-debated question was left nearly in statu quo, and its further elucidation is hoped for when anthropologists shall have extended their researches in asylums for the insane, and made frequent examinations of the dead bodies of malefactors. Before the Congress separated a Lyons doctor, in a report on the influence of the professions on crime, stated that the largest percentage of malefactors who belonged to the better classes was among agricultural and trading people. On the whole, the anthropologists—to judge from the reports of their meetings—do not seem to have made much progress since their inaugural Congress in 1885; but they are engaged in a useful work, which may hereafter bring forth excellent fruit for the benefit of humanity.

A story was told in Inspector Byrnes' office, in Police Headquarters, New-York City, last night, which places three conspirators—Robert Ray Hamilton's wife, Mrs. Swinton and Joshua T. Mann—under a calcium light. It establishes the fact that the child which Mr. Hamilton believed to be his offspring came from a midwife's, and was foisted on him basely and heartlessly. It gives more of the shameful history of Swinton, Mann and company, and is so convincing that Mr. Hamilton is said to have come to his senses, and will endeavor to atone for his folly by allowing the law to proceed against Mrs. Swinton and "Josh" Mann for palming off the child on him and for conspiracy. It appears that a counter conspiracy against Mr. Hamilton was gotten up by friends who thought too well of him and his name to allow them to be any longer sullied by contact with the creatures who got him into their clutches. Among these friends were Elihu Root and Charles A. Peabody, Jr. Thursday last Mr. Root called on Inspector Byrnes and asked him to meet him at the residence of one of Mr. Hamilton's friends to discuss his associations with Mrs. Swinton, Eva and Mann. Inspector Byrnes met Mr. Root, his partner, Samuel B. Clarke, and others, and, at their request, consented to "sift fine" Mrs. Swinton, Mann and Eva. He started in with the belief that Mr. Hamilton was forced to marry Eva by her statement that her honor and her child's were at stake; in other words, he believed her and acted like a gentleman. Learning that she said that she gave birth to a girl in Elmira on December 17, 1888, and that she was attended by Dr. Burnett Morse, a physician of good repute, Mr. Byrnes sent Detective Sergeant McNaught to Elmira. He reported that Eva lived in Elmira in a hotel and in boarding houses with Joshua Mann and that they passed as a married couple. Dr. Morse remembered that he attended her for cramps of the stomach, but he was sure that she did not at that time give birth to a child, and there were no indications that she was likely to become a mother. Mrs. Swinton and her son, Joshua Mann, are prisoners at Police Headquarters.

The question having been asked Attorney General Tabor, of this State, whether a person who voted at the general election against the Presidential nominee of his party, and who subsequently at a town meeting voted with his party, can be prevented from voting with his party at a caucus held to nominate county officers for the ensuing election, Attorney-General Tabor has given the following opinion: "The meaning of the statute seems to me to be: First, each party or association holding the primary may prescribe its own rules and regulations for the purpose of determining the qualifications necessary to entitle a person to vote thereat. Second, that no association or party can, however, make any rule or regulation which shall authorize the electors of the opposite party to vote at their caucus or primary. So that, in the absence of any rule or regulation fixing the qualifications of the person offering his vote, if he testifies under oath as to his political affiliation with and belief in the principles of the political party at whose primary he offers his vote, I am of the opinion that the vote should be received. It is not the object of the statute, in my judgment, to prescribe any certain or fixed action of the voter as a qualification or rule for the determination of his right to vote, but it was the intention manifestly, to prevent the admitted and recognized adherents of one party from voting at the primaries of another."

The Archæological Institute of America makes an appeal to the public for $75,000, to be used in prosecuting investigations of the ancient site of Delphi in Greece. The permission of the Greek Government to undertake these investigations has been obtained provided sufficient money is raised before the first of next December, for the removal of the village of Kastri, now standing on this site. The members of the Institute, says the appeal, "trust that every one interested in the progress of classical studies in America, every one who recognizes his own indebtedness to Greece for the most precious gifts of civilization, will contribute according to his means to the proposed work. They will be glad to receive contributions of any amount." Fuller information as to the project will be given, and correspondence regarding its advancement is invited, by William C. Lawton, Secretary, Cambridge, Mass.

In Elbert County, near Craft's Ferry, on the Savannah River, Ga., lives a Negro, who goes by the name of "Sheep Jess," who is a curiosity. His hair and whiskers are perfectly white, and almost cover his head and face, leaving only small patches of dark skin around his eyes and nose, and are a perfect imitation of sheep's wool. His hair [or wool] grows rapidly, and his wife shears him every two weeks, thereby realizing enough wool to supply Jess, his wife and five children with stockings the year round, and sells enough socks to supply them with sugar and coffee. His wife has nearly enough of the finest part of the wool saved to make cloth for a suit of clothes for Jess next winter. He is about 35 years old.

In Strawberry Valley, Cal., recently, two young ladies went into the woods to search for ferns, accompanied by an English mastiff. While seated on a log in an isolated part of the forest, quite a distance from their home, they were approached by a cinnamon bear. At the sight of their visitor the girls started to run toward home, screaming at the top of their voices and followed by Bruin. The mastiff was not afraid and caught hold of the bear by the neck. A desperate struggle took place and only ended when two men arrived on the scene and shot the bear. The dog was so badly mangled that it was feared it would die.

Owing to a misunderstanding between the League officials and the management of the York, Pa., bicycle tournament, the State League championship races have been declared off, being unauthorized by the Racing Board of the League.

Paris bicyclers are again in high glee. In the new military law it is provided that those who are proficient riders and apt to perform staff service are to be enrolled in a special corps with each regiment.

The bicyclists of Wheeling, W. Va., will have their races in that City during the State Fair, on September 9 and 10. They will decide the State championship, and there will be a contest between tandem riders.

F. W. Shorland, an English bycyclist, rode 59 miles in less than three hours, and completed 160¼ miles in 12 hours, which makes a steady riding of over 13 miles an hour.

E. A. Bailey has been reinstated into the League of American Wheelmen, having been suspended for competing in races where both Safeties and Ordinaries were used.

Frederick Mengel, of the Riverside Wheelmen, expects to have a mileage of 6,000 or 8,000 miles this summer. He has made over 3,000 already.

In the 25-mile road race, to take place on October 19 at Wilmington, handicaps will be allowed to members of the Wilmington Wheel Club only.

It will be impossible for any large mileage records to be made this season on account of the bad conditions of the roads.

Davis, of Harvard, is racing in England, despite his suspension by the Racing Board of the League.

W. H. DeGraaf recently rode from Tarrytown to Yonkers in 50 minutes, a distance of 11¼ miles.

The Moon and Jupiter — Old Papers Found in the Ulster County Clerk's Office —A Visit From Milk Inspectors in Order—A Pointer for Democrats, Etc.

Those interested in the movements of Heavenly bodies experienced a treat last night in witnessing the occultation of the moon and Jupiter. Early in the evening the moon and his Majesty of the Heavens were the objects of interest, seeming to hang as beautiful illuminating bodies near the meridian in the Southern sky. The moon having just passed the first quarter, shone with bright silvery light with the arms of its crescent extended towards Jupiter as if to embrace him. Jupiter and the moon were both traveling through the Heavens toward the east, though their apparent direction to the observer was towards the west. Though Jupiter was traveling faster than the moon, the moon being nearer than Jupiter to the earth and traveling over a smaller orbit soon caught up with the planet and passed before him, and for 49 minutes the great star was blotted out of the heavens. It was a grand sight viewed through a good glass. There hung the great moon, with the rough, ragged shadow-edge of its illuminated surface towards the star who seemed to be approaching her in martial array preceded by three of his satellites and followed by one, all nearly in the same plane. On they seemed to come until they reached that edge of the moon out of the sunlight and not distinguishable by the observer, except that there the satellites one by one disappeared, and then as the star came, the undistinguished and darkened part of the moon began to eclipse the star—first it was full, then three quarters full, then half full, then a quarter full, then a thin crescent only, and then it was gone, and all before Jupiter seemed to touch the moon. The immersion was at 9:51, and for about 49 minutes Jupiter and his satellites were lost to sight. Then the three satellites one after another appeared, and then came the great star himself, at first as a small new mountain on the south-western edge of the moon, growing more prominent as he became more round, until at last the moon broke loose and went sailing on, leaving Jupiter to complete by himself his orbit through the constellations, which requires 12 of our years.

An old resident while sitting in front of the Court House said to-day: "Now and then you will come across a man who is liberal. For instance, when I was running for Sheriff in 1846 in Ulster County I made my headquarters for a day and a night at the place of Reuben Devo in the lower part of the County. Reuben was proprietor of the stage house on the road from New-York to Albany, and his place was frequented by many people. Of course, as I was a candidate I had to treat at the bar. I also had a horse and wagon in which to go through the town and call on prominent men. Deyo didn't charge me a cent. I pulled through with a small majority. I always remembered Deyo. It is the rule with hotel keepers to charge candidates a round sum for 'good will.'"

Dr. Shrady as a Farmer.

During his vacation this summer Dr. George F. Shrady, of New-York City, has given his personal attention to his farm and country seat on the Hudson, and can be seen any day axe in hand trimming and beautifying the outlooks. He is satisfied with the title of "Mr." among his congenial neighbors and tries for the time being to forget that he is a "drudging City doctor." He has stocked his farm with thoroughbred Jersey and Holstein cattle, and under new management the place promises to be a model of its kind and will be a new incentive for the Doctor to spend his vacations each year in this neighborhood. From Dr. Shrady's summer seat one of the finest views of the Hudson River and Catskill Mountains in these parts can be obtained. Dr. Shrady is the editor of the Medical Record and one of the most distinguished specialists in the world.

BURGLARS AT ELLERSLIE.

UNSUCCESSFUL ATTEMPTS MADE TO ROB THE VICE-PRESIDENT.

The Cracksmen, Said to be Professionals, Were Frightened Away by an Electric Alarm System, Which Lit Up the Entire House—There is no Clue to the Rascals.

Last night burglars made two attempts to enter the residence of Vice-President Morton at Ellerslie, near Rhinecliff, but were unsuccessful. The residence is fitted up with an electric alarm system, so that any one interfering with doors or windows at night causes the entire house to become lighted instantly, which fact probably saved the house from being ransacked. No clue to the whereabouts of the thieves has been obtained. They were evidently professionals, judging by their work.

NEAR-BY SPORTING MATTERS NOTED

Wheels and Wheelmen—Printers on the Diamond at Ellenville, Etc.

"I confess that I do not understand the nature of a mule," said a Downtown bicycler to-day. "Recently I took a ride on my wheel along the tow-path of the Delaware & Hudson Canal. A team of mules drawing a boat saw me and they showed terror. I moved cautiously, fearing the animals in their fright would throw themselves into the canal. When passing, the mules dropped their heads as if laughing to themselves. Another long-eared animal that caught sight of me acted as though it was going to tear the tow-path up until I approached close to it, when it blinked complacently and when I passed it it actually turned its head and he-hawed at me."

Wheelmen in this vicinity are making much better road records than they did earlier in the season. The roads are better and the bicyclers have muscles that have been strengthened by the exercise of peddaling.

The printers of Ellenville played a team from the Middletown Argus office one day recently. The Ellenville printers were victorious by a score of 21 to 20.

HUDSON RIVER RIPPLES BY MAIL, ETC.

News on the East and West Banks of the Hudson and Inland.

The work of constructing the Highland suspension bridge across the Hudson at Anthony's Nose is progressing. Men are engaged in making anchor pits on the Nose for the bridge. A contract has been awarded to construct a wagon road from the Nose along the side of the mountain to connect with the main Peekskill and Garrison highway. This road will be two miles long, the object of its construction being to make access to the Nose easy for teams to do the trucking of material needed at the bank of the River for the east side construction of the bridge. It will also be a carriage road that will connect with the drive on the bridge. The road has been surveyed and work on it is now in progress.

Frank P. Demarest, a lawyer of Nyack, has written a letter to the Secretary of the Inter-State Commerce Commission at Washington asking if there is any person connected with the Commission named A. A. Eckstrom or whether such a person has ever been connected with the Commission. This information, he explains, is needed for the reason that certain checks which Eckstrom passed a few days ago have been returned as worthless. Eckstrom said he was an employe of the Commission. Secretary Moseley has replied that no person of that name has ever been employed by the Commission or had any connection with the same.

ULSTER COUNTY NOTES.

School Commissioner Moran has sent circulars to the teachers of the First District, Ulster County, reading in part as follows: "The design of the following course of study is to systematize to some extent the work of common schools. Every one who is at all familiar with the work of these schools, knows that they lack system and organization. The teachers enter their respective schools without any knowledge of the pupils or the condition of the school and leave, perhaps, just as they are ready to do good work. The constant change of teachers, together with the great variety of text books and different lengths of terms beginning at different times, seems inevitable at present and a thorough gradation of schools impracticable; but it is hoped that the present loose system of things may be improved. To this end the following course of study has been prepared as an approximation to a uniform system. It is not expected that the course can be carried out in detail in all the schools, but may be modified to meet the varying circumstances."

County Secretary William Smith and several others are making a tour in the remote regions of Ulster County in the interest of Sunday Schools and Bible Societies. On Monday they left this City via the Ulster & Delaware Railroad. They went by rail to the Summit, thence on foot to Dry Brook and Furlough Lake, over the mountain there by way of "Cat Ladder" to Turnwood, thence up the Beaverkill to its source, across the mountain into Denning, through the valleys of the East and West branches of the Neversink to Sundown, to the head of the Rondout Creek through "The Gulf" into Watson Hollow to West Shokan, and return by rail to this City. Sunday School meetings to be held at Turnwood, Dewittville and Sundown will be addressed. Secretary Smith acts as a guide for the party.

As he carried a law book under his arm the Assessors complied with his request.

FALL FRUITS 'LONG SHORE.

THE OUTLOOK FOR LATE PEACHES AND THE CONCORD GRAPE CROP.

Speculators who Predicted not Wisely—The Mildew in the Grape Vineyards Not as Bad As Painted by a Good Deal—Handsome Prices Being Received for Peaches, Etc.

The outlook for the yield of fall fruit crops is much larger than the estimates of prospective yields, printed at intervals in THE FREEMAN heretofore. Speculators and interested middlemen and badly frightened fruit-growers, the latter having imagined that utter bankruptcy stared them in the face, all through June and July, said that certain crops would prove utter failures. The Country Gentleman in particular was used as the tool in this respect.

As a matter of fact the peach crop at Marlborough, Middlehope, Cornwall, Mountainville, Plattekill, Modena, Highland, New-Paltz, Clintondale, Esopus, at many points along the Rondout and Wallkill Valleys and between this City and Coxsackie and from Fishkill to Germantown, is one of the finest ever grown. The fruit is large in size, beautifully colored, has a fineness of fibre and is juicy to a degree. This is the rule in all the localities named and elsewhere, though there may be one or two exceptions, due to severe storms of a local nature and which caused considerable havoc, notably the tornado which occurred in the town of Lloyd last month. Generally speaking the early varieties have sold for fair prices. The first varieties of the late crop in localities is ripening from one to two weeks earlier than usual. Fruit of this class has sold as high as $8 a bushel. This was for exceptionally fine fruit, and must not be taken as a criterion to go by for the entire product; still all the late peaches shipped to date have sold for handsome prices in New-York City, Boston, Philadelphia and elsewhere. The peaches yet to be shipped to market, and consignments will probably continue to be made until the middle of November, are very choice. High prices will rule, for the Hudson River producers have few competitors in the line of this first-class fruit late in the fall.

The hue and cry raised by speculators that the great grape crop of the Hudson Valley—individual shipments of 150, 100, 75 and 50 tons respectively were not uncommon last year—would prove a total failure was groundless. It is true that in a number of districts mildew has caused havoc, in some vineyards great havoc, and such instances were carefully picked out and named, thus giving the impression that the grape crop generally was a failure. In Marlborough and in other towns along the Hudson River vineyards can be shown that look as though they had been riddled by shot and cannister, but they are the exception and by no means the rule. Early varieties have been shipped for two weeks, but the great bulk of the grape yield is composed of Concords. Sometimes avaricious growers ship fruit not fully ripened, which hurts their fellows as well as themselves. There will be less of that done, however, this fall than formerly.

Returns received from the principal grape-growing sections to-day show that at least 75 per cent. of a full yield of Concords will be gathered and shipped, provided no severe frosts occur during the latter part of this month or in October. Regular shipments of Concords may be looked for well along in November.

An effort will be made to store a portion of the product, the objective point being to supply a portion of the New-York City market and markets elsewhere during the Christmas holidays. No one need worry about the Hudson Valley grape yield. There will be fruit enough and to spare.

TO THE PUBLIC.

On February 1st, 1888, I came to Kingston a stranger, and on February 6th following, purchased the business of Silas H. Davis with the explicit understanding and solemn promise on his part that he would not at any time, while I remained in the business, engage in the same line of trade in this city. This agreement, which should be sacred, he has openly violated, compromising his honor thereby. I can only leave it to this community to render the verdict whether under existing circumstances he is worthy of their patronage.

The Moon and Jupiter — Old Papers Found in the Ulster County Clerk's Office —A Visit From Milk Inspectors in Order—A Pointer for Democrats, Etc.

Those interested in the movements of Heavenly bodies experienced a treat last night in witnessing the occultation of the moon and Jupiter. Early in the evening the moon and his Majesty of the Heavens were the objects of interest, seeming to hang as beautiful illuminating bodies near the meridian in the Southern sky. The moon having just passed the first quarter, shone with bright silvery light with the arms of its crescent extended towards Jupiter as if to embrace him. Jupiter and the moon were both traveling through the Heavens toward the east, though their apparent direction to the observer was towards the west. Though Jupiter was traveling faster than the moon, the moon being nearer than Jupiter to the earth and traveling over a smaller orbit soon caught up with the planet and passed before him, and for 49 minutes the great star was blotted out of the heavens. It was a grand sight viewed through a good glass. There hung the great moon, with the rough, ragged shadow-edge of its illuminated surface towards the star who seemed to be approaching her in martial array preceded by three of his satellites and followed by one, all nearly in the same plane. On they seemed to come until they reached that edge of the moon out of the sunlight and not distinguishable by the observer, except that there the satellites one by one disappeared, and then as the star came, the undistinguished and darkened part of the moon began to eclipse the star—first it was full, then three quarters full, then half full, then a quarter full, then a thin crescent only, and then it was gone, and all before Jupiter seemed to touch the moon. The immersion was at 9:51, and for about 49 minutes Jupiter and his satellites were lost to sight. Then the three satellites one after another appeared, and then came the great star himself, at first as a small new mountain on the south-western edge of the moon, growing more prominent as he became more round, until at last the moon broke loose and went sailing on, leaving Jupiter to complete by himself his orbit through the constellations, which requires 12 of our years.

Among old papers in the County Clerk's office is a deed of lands in New-Paltz, written in French, and a linguist says "not good French, either." The following is a copy.

An old resident while sitting in front of the Court House said to-day: "Now and then you will come across a man who is liberal. For instance, when I was running for Sheriff in 1846 in Ulster County I made my headquarters for a day and a night at the place of Reuben Devo in the lower part of the County. Reuben was proprietor of the stage house on the road from New-York to Albany, and his place was frequented by many people. Of course, as I was a candidate I had to treat at the bar. I also had a horse and wagon in which to go through the town and call on prominent men. Deyo didn't charge me a cent. I pulled through with a small majority. I always remembered Deyo. It is the rule with hotel keepers to charge candidates a round sum for 'good will.'"

Dr. Shrady as a Farmer.

During his vacation this summer Dr. George F. Shrady, of New-York City, has given his personal attention to his farm and country seat on the Hudson, and can be seen any day axe in hand trimming and beautifying the outlooks. He is satisfied with the title of "Mr." among his congenial neighbors and tries for the time being to forget that he is a "drudging City doctor." He has stocked his farm with thoroughbred Jersey and Holstein cattle, and under new management the place promises to be a model of its kind and will be a new incentive for the Doctor to spend his vacations each year in this neighborhood. From Dr. Shrady's summer seat one of the finest views of the Hudson River and Catskill Mountains in these parts can be obtained. Dr. Shrady is the editor of the Medical Record and one of the most distinguished specialists in the world.

BURGLARS AT ELLERSLIE.

UNSUCCESSFUL ATTEMPTS MADE TO ROB THE VICE-PRESIDENT.

The Cracksmen, Said to be Professionals, Were Frightened Away by an Electric Alarm System, Which Lit Up the Entire House—There is no Clue to the Rascals.

Last night burglars made two attempts to enter the residence of Vice-President Morton at Ellerslie, near Rhinecliff, but were unsuccessful. The residence is fitted up with an electric alarm system, so that any one interfering with doors or windows at night causes the entire house to become lighted instantly, which fact probably saved the house from being ransacked. No clue to the whereabouts of the thieves has been obtained. They were evidently professionals, judging by their work.

Wheels and Wheelmen—Printers on the Diamond at Ellenville, Etc.

"I confess that I do not understand the nature of a mule," said a Downtown bicycler to-day. "Recently I took a ride on my wheel along the tow-path of the Delaware & Hudson Canal. A team of mules drawing a boat saw me and they showed terror. I moved cautiously, fearing the animals in their fright would throw themselves into the canal. When passing, the mules dropped their heads as if laughing to themselves. Another long-eared animal that caught sight of me acted as though it was going to tear the tow-path up until I approached close to it, when it blinked complacently and when I passed it it actually turned its head and he-hawed at me."

Wheelmen in this vicinity are making much better road records than they did earlier in the season. The roads are better and the bicyclers have muscles that have been strengthened by the exercise of peddaling.

The printers of Ellenville played a team from the Middletown Argus office one day recently. The Ellenville printers were victorious by a score of 21 to 20.

HUDSON RIVER RIPPLES BY MAIL, ETC.

News on the East and West Banks of the Hudson and Inland.

The work of constructing the Highland suspension bridge across the Hudson at Anthony's Nose is progressing. Men are engaged in making anchor pits on the Nose for the bridge. A contract has been awarded to construct a wagon road from the Nose along the side of the mountain to connect with the main Peekskill and Garrison highway. This road will be two miles long, the object of its construction being to make access to the Nose easy for teams to do the trucking of material needed at the bank of the River for the east side construction of the bridge. It will also be a carriage road that will connect with the drive on the bridge. The road has been surveyed and work on it is now in progress.

Frank P. Demarest, a lawyer of Nyack, has written a letter to the Secretary of the Inter-State Commerce Commission at Washington asking if there is any person connected with the Commission named A. A. Eckstrom or whether such a person has ever been connected with the Commission. Secretary Moseley has replied that no person of that name has ever been employed by the Commission or had any connection with the same.

ULSTER COUNTY NOTES.

School Commissioner Moran has sent circulars to the teachers of the First District, Ulster County, reading in part as follows: "The design of the following course of study is to systematize to some extent the work of common schools. Every one who is at all familiar with the work of these schools, knows that they lack system and organization. The teachers enter their respective schools without any knowledge of the pupils or the condition of the school and leave, perhaps, just as they are ready to do good work. The constant change of teachers, together with the great variety of text books and different lengths of terms beginning at different times, seems inevitable at present and a thorough gradation of schools impracticable; but it is hoped that the present loose system of things may be improved. To this end the following course of study has been prepared as an approximation to a uniform system. It is not expected that the course can be carried out in detail in all the schools, but may be modified to meet the varying circumstances."

County Secretary William Smith and several others are making a tour in the remote regions of Ulster County in the interest of Sunday Schools and Bible Societies. On Monday they left this City via the Ulster & Delaware Railroad. They went by rail to the Summit, thence on foot to Dry Brook and Furlough Lake, over the mountain there by way of "Cat Ladder" to Turnwood, thence up the Beaverkill to its source, across the mountain into Denning, through the valleys of the East and West branches of the Neversink to Sundown, to the head of the Rondout Creek through "The Gulf" into Watson Hollow to West Shokan, and return by rail to this City. Sunday School meetings to be held at Turnwood, Dewittville and Sundown will be addressed. Secretary Smith acts as a guide for the party.

FALL FRUITS 'LONG SHORE.

THE OUTLOOK FOR LATE PEACHES AND THE CONCORD GRAPE CROP.

Speculators who Predicted not Wisely—The Mildew in the Grape Vineyards Not as Bad As Painted by a Good Deal—Handsome Prices Being Received for Peaches, Etc.

The outlook for the yield of fall fruit crops is much larger than the estimates of prospective yields, printed at intervals in THE FREEMAN heretofore. Speculators and interested middlemen and badly frightened fruit-growers, the latter having imagined that utter bankruptcy stared them in the face, all through June and July, said that certain crops would prove utter failures. The Country Gentleman in particular was used as the tool in this respect.

As a matter of fact the peach crop at Marlborough, Middlehope, Cornwall, Mountainville, Plattekill, Modena, Highland, New-Paltz, Clintondale, Esopus, at many points along the Rondout and Wallkill Valleys and between this City and Coxsackie and from Fishkill to Germantown, is one of the finest ever grown. The fruit is large in size, beautifully colored, has a fineness of fibre and is juicy to a degree. This is the rule in all the localities named and elsewhere, though there may be one or two exceptions, due to severe storms of a local nature and which caused considerable havoc, notably the tornado which occurred in the town of Lloyd last month. Generally speaking the early varieties have sold for fair prices. The first varieties of the late crop in localities is ripening from one to two weeks earlier than usual. Fruit of this class has sold as high as $8 a bushel. This was for exceptionally fine fruit, and must not be taken as a criterion to go by for the entire product; still all the late peaches shipped to date have sold for handsome prices in New-York City, Boston, Philadelphia and elsewhere. The peaches yet to be shipped to market, and consignments will probably continue to be made until the middle of November, are very choice. High prices will rule, for the Hudson River producers have few competitors in the line of this first-class fruit late in the fall.

The hue and cry raised by speculators that the great grape crop of the Hudson Valley—individual shipments of 150, 100, 75 and 50 tons respectively were not uncommon last year—would prove a total failure was groundless. It is true that in a number of districts mildew has caused havoc, in some vineyards great havoc, and such instances were carefully picked out and named, thus giving the impression that the grape crop generally was a failure. In Marlborough and in other towns along the Hudson River vineyards can be shown that look as though they had been riddled by shot and cannister, but they are the exception and by no means the rule. Early varieties have been shipped for two weeks, but the great bulk of the grape yield is composed of Concords. Sometimes avaricious growers ship fruit not fully ripened, which hurts their fellows as well as themselves. There will be less of that done, however, this fall than formerly.

Returns received from the principal grape-growing sections to-day show that at least 75 per cent. of a full yield of Concords will be gathered and shipped, provided no severe frosts occur during the latter part of this month or in October. Regular shipments of Concords may be looked for well along in November.

An effort will be made to store a portion of the product, the objective point being to supply a portion of the New-York City market and markets elsewhere during the Christmas holidays. No one need worry about the Hudson Valley grape yield. There will be fruit enough and to spare.

TO THE PUBLIC.

On February 1st, 1888, I came to Kingston a stranger, and on February 6th following, purchased the business of Silas H. Davis with the explicit understanding and solemn promise on his part that he would not at any time, while I remained in the business, engage in the same line of trade in this city. This agreement, which should be sacred, he has openly violated, compromising his honor thereby. I can only leave it to this community to render the verdict whether under existing circumstances he is worthy of their patronage.

EDWARD T. STELLE.

I was witness to the above conversation and agreement. ROBERT WILSON.

The Moon and Jupiter — Old Papers Found in the Ulster County Clerk's Office —A Visit From Milk Inspectors in Order— A Pointer for Democrats, Etc.

Those interested in the movements of Heavenly bodies experienced a treat last night in witnessing the occultation of the moon and Jupiter. Early in the evening the moon and his Majesty of the Heavens were the objects of interest, seeming to hang as beautiful illuminating bodies near the meridian in the Southern sky. The moon having just passed the first quarter, shone with bright silvery light with the arms of its crescent extended towards Jupiter as if to embrace him. Jupiter and the moon were both traveling through the Heavens toward the east, though their apparent direction to the observer was towards the west. Though Jupiter was traveling faster than the moon, the moon being nearer than Jupiter to the earth and traveling over a smaller orbit soon caught up with the planet and passed before him, and for 49 minutes the great star was blotted out of the heavens. It was a grand sight viewed through a good glass. There hung the great moon, with the rough, ragged shadow-edge of its illuminated surface towards the star who seemed to be approaching her in martial array preceded by three of his satellites and followed by one, all nearly in the same plane. On they seemed to come until they reached that edge of the moon out of the sunlight and not distinguishable by the observer, except that there the satellites one by one disappeared, and then as the star came, the undistinguished and darkened part of the moon began to eclipse the star—first it was full, then three quarters full, then half full, then a quarter full, then a thin crescent only, and then it was gone, and all before Jupiter seemed to touch the moon. The immersion was at 9:51, and for about 49 minutes Jupiter and his satellites were lost to sight. Then the three satellites one after another appeared, and then came the great star himself, at first as a small new mountain on the south-western edge of the moon, growing more prominent as he became more round, until at last the moon broke loose and went sailing on, leaving Jupiter to complete by himself his orbit through the constellations, which requires 12 of our years.

An old resident while sitting in front of the Court House said to-day: "Now and then you will come across a man who is liberal. For instance, when I was running for Sheriff in 1846 in Ulster County I made my headquarters for a day and a night at the place of Reuben Devo in the lower part of the County. Reuben was proprietor of the stage house on the road from New-York to Albany, and his place was frequented by many people. Of course, as I was a candidate I had to treat at the bar. I also had a horse and wagon in which to go through the town and call on prominent men. Deyo didn't charge me a cent. I pulled through with a small majority. I always remembered Deyo. It is the rule with hotel keepers to charge candidates a round sum for 'good will.'"

In the Ulster Surrogate's Court the will of Harry P. Chase, town of Marlborough, proved and admitted to probate, will dated August 1, 1889, witnesses S. G. Carpenter and George S. Lamoree. Oscar Everett and George F. Lamoree were appointed Appraisers. A final accounting was made by the Administrators of the estate of Josiah Hasbrouck.

A young man, who lives a few miles from town, celebrated "Labor Day" by going to New-York City on the Mary Powell. Never having been in New-York before and not seeing any one he was acquainted with he bought one of Haggard's works and remained on board the boat, fearing to go ashore lest he would "get lost."

A contract has been awarded Messrs. Noone & Madden, of this City, which will afford employment to many quarrymen and stone-cutters. It is to furnish stone for Locks Nos. 23 and 24 on the Erie Canal. The amount of the contract is about $25,000.

At the time of his death he was employed as Civil Engineer on a railroad in Nova Scotia.

WHAT ARE HEALTH OFFICERS DOING?

More Diphtheria Cases in the Seventh Ward, and the Disease Likely to Spread.

There is said to be an epidemic of diphtheria in the Seventh Ward. Last night a seven-year-old girl named Brauer died of the disease. A child of Mrs. James Finley, in the neighborhood of Ulster Academy, is ill with the disease and several other cases are reported in Hoffmann's Hollow.

Dr. Shrady as a Farmer.

During his vacation this summer Dr. George F. Shrady, of New-York City, has given his personal attention to his farm and country seat on the Hudson, and can be seen any day axe in hand trimming and beautifying the outlooks. He is satisfied with the title of "Mr." among his congenial neighbors and tries for the time being to forget that he is a "drudging City doctor." He has stocked his farm with thoroughbred Jersey and Holstein cattle, and under new management the place promises to be a model of its kind and will be a new incentive for the Doctor to spend his vacations each year in this neighborhood. From Dr. Shrady's summer seat one of the finest views of the Hudson River and Catskill Mountains in these parts can be obtained. Dr. Shrady is the editor of the Medical Record and one of the most distinguished specialists in the world.

Delaware County Farmers Fleeced.

Innocent farmers in the vicinity of Stamford have been victimized by swindlers who sell them hand-binders for grain cut with reapers. The price is $2 and the farmer is given an opportunity to pay for them by "selling phosphate." He is asked to sign his name and Post-Office address. In due time another swindler, who claims to be a lawyer, comes around and presents a promissory note for $280 duly signed by the farmer who purchased the binder. Several cases will be tested in the courts.

BURGLARS AT ELLERSLIE.

UNSUCCESSFUL ATTEMPTS MADE TO ROB THE VICE-PRESIDENT.

The Cracksmen, Said to be Professionals, Were Frightened Away by an Electric Alarm System, Which Lit Up the Entire House—There is no Clue to the Rascals.

Last night burglars made two attempts to enter the residence of Vice-President Morton at Ellerslie, near Rhinecliff, but were unsuccessful. The residence is fitted up with an electric alarm system, so that any one interfering with doors or windows at night causes the entire house to become lighted instantly, which fact probably saved the house from being ransacked. No clue to the whereabouts of the thieves has been obtained. They were evidently professionals, judging by their work.

Wheels and Wheelmen—Printers on the Diamond at Ellenville, Etc.

"I confess that I do not understand the nature of a mule," said a Downtown bicycler to-day. "Recently I took a ride on my wheel along the tow-path of the Delaware & Hudson Canal. A team of mules drawing a boat saw me and they showed terror. I moved cautiously, fearing the animals in their fright would throw themselves into the canal. When passing, the mules dropped their heads as if laughing to themselves. Another long-eared animal that caught sight of me acted as though it was going to tear the tow-path up until I approached close to it, when it blinked complacently and when I passed it it actually turned its head and he-hawed at me."

Wheelmen in this vicinity are making much better road records than they did earlier in the season. The roads are better and the bicyclers have muscles that have been strengthened by the exercise of peddaling.

The printers of Ellenville played a team from the Middletown Argus office one day recently. The Ellenville printers were victorious by a score of 21 to 20.

Along the Docks Here.

The following vessels were reported at the Rondout Department of the Delaware & Hudson Canal Company to-day for cargoes of coal: Barges Brooklyn, 960 tons; Wyoming, 530; Moosic, 530; Carbondale, 530; Delaware, 530; Anthracite, 530; schooner Joseph Hayes, 310. Besides these there are a large number of boats of lesser burthen awaiting their turn. The fall business promises to be large.

The schooner Manitou is at the Railroad Dock, where it is being loaded with 2,000 barrels of cement. The schooner Walter Cummings is being loaded with cord-wood at the same dock.

The whistle of the steamer "City of Kingston" was blown at the mouth of the Rondout Creek at 9:55 o'clock last night.

There arrived at tidewater at Eddyville yesterday 49 Delaware & Hudson Canal boats, laden with 6,600 tons of coal.

Hubbard and Miss Cole; Mrs. F. Gallagher and Mrs. Richard Stokes; Mrs. Edgar Britt and Mrs. Albert Carr; Mrs. S. T. Hull and Mrs. Wesley B. Houghtaling. At the refreshment table will be Mrs. J. Deyo Chipp and Mrs. W. Scott Gillespie.

At the regular conclave of Rondout Commandery, No. 52, K. T., to be held next Wednesday evening, the order of the Temple will be conferred.

The "Chaos Flats," a musical comedy, will be presented at Kingston Opera House on September 10. A "Bunch of Keys," which has had a long and successful run in New-York City, will be on the boards at Liscomb's Opera House, on Thursday, September 12. The company is said to be a strong one. The Gorman Brothers Minstrels will appear at Kingston Opera House on September 26.

Thieves in Ulster County.

The arrest of William Galway, who is now in the Ulster County Jail here charged with horse stealing, it is believed, will lead to the apprehension of an organized band of horse thieves who have been operating recently in Southern Ulster.

A reward of $50 has been offered by Joseph M. Strong, of Ulster Park, for the arrest and conviction of the parties who broke into his residence recently and removed personal property valued at $600.

Thought It Was Goliah of Old.

Y., on Sunday, a man seven feet, four inches in height, who was an attraction at one of the shows on the Pawling Fair Grounds the day before, came stalking in. Some of the younger scholars thought David had not really killed Goliath.

HUDSON RIVER RIPPLES BY MAIL, ETC.

News on the East and West Banks of the Hudson and Inland.

The work of constructing the Highland suspension bridge across the Hudson at Anthony's Nose is progressing. Men are engaged in making anchor pits on the Nose for the bridge. A contract has been awarded to construct a wagon road from the Nose along the side of the mountain to connect with the main Peekskill and Garrison highway. This road will be two miles long, the object of its construction being to make access to the Nose easy for teams to do the trucking of material needed at the bank of the River for the east side construction of the bridge. It will also be a carriage road that will connect with the drive on the bridge. The road has been surveyed and work on it is now in progress.

Frank P. Demarest, a lawyer of Nyack, has written a letter to the Secretary of the Inter-State Commerce Commission at Washington asking if there is any person connected with the Commission named A. A. Eckstrom or whether such a person has ever been connected with the Commission. This information, he explains, is needed for the reason that certain checks which Eckstrom passed a few days ago have been returned as worthless. Eckstrom said he was an employe of the Commission. Secretary Moseley has replied that no person of that name has ever been employed by the Commission or had any connection with the same.

ULSTER COUNTY NOTES.

School Commissioner Moran has sent circulars to the teachers of the First District, Ulster County, reading in part as follows: "The design of the following course of study is to systematize to some extent the work of common schools. Every one who is at all familiar with the work of these schools, knows that they lack system and organization. The teachers enter their respective schools without any knowledge of the pupils or the condition of the school and leave, perhaps, just as they are ready to do good work. The constant change of teachers, together with the great variety of text books and different lengths of terms beginning at different times, seems inevitable at present and a thorough gradation of schools impracticable; but it is hoped that the present loose system of things may be improved. To this end the following course of study has been prepared as an approximation to a uniform system. It is not expected that the course can be carried out in detail in all the schools, but may be modified to meet the varying circumstances."

County Secretary William Smith and several others are making a tour in the remote regions of Ulster County in the interest of Sunday Schools and Bible Societies. On Monday they left this City via the Ulster & Delaware Railroad. They went by rail to the Summit, thence on foot to Dry Brook and Furlough Lake, over the mountain there by way of "Cat Ladder" to Turnwood, thence up the Beaverkill to its source, across the mountain into Denning, through the valleys of the East and West branches of the Neversink to Sundown, to the head of the Rondout Creek through "The Gulf" into Watson Hollow to West Shokan, and return by rail to this City. Sunday School meetings to be held at Turnwood, Dewittville and Sundown will be addressed. Secretary Smith acts as a guide for the party.

FALL FRUITS 'LONG SHORE.

THE OUTLOOK FOR LATE PEACHES AND THE CONCORD GRAPE CROP.

Speculators who Predicted not Wisely—The Mildew in the Grape Vineyards Not as Bad As Painted by a Good Deal—Handsome Prices Being Received for Peaches, Etc.

The outlook for the yield of fall fruit crops is much larger than the estimates of prospective yields, printed at intervals in THE FREEMAN heretofore. Speculators and interested middlemen and badly frightened fruit-growers, the latter having imagined that utter bankruptcy stared them in the face, all through June and July, said that certain crops would prove utter failures. The Country Gentleman in particular was used as the tool in this respect.

As a matter of fact the peach crop at Marlborough, Middlehope, Cornwall, Mountainville, Plattekill, Modena, Highland, New-Paltz, Clintondale, Esopus, at many points along the Rondout and Wallkill Valleys and between this City and Coxsackie and from Fishkill to Germantown, is one of the finest ever grown. The fruit is large in size, beautifully colored, has a fineness of fibre and is juicy to a degree. This is the rule in all the localities named and elsewhere, though there may be one or two exceptions, due to severe storms of a local nature and which caused considerable havoc, notably the tornado which occurred in the town of Lloyd last month. Generally speaking the early varieties have sold for fair prices. The first varieties of the late crop in localities is ripening from one to two weeks earlier than usual. Fruit of this class has sold as high as $8 a bushel. This was for exceptionally fine fruit, and must not be taken as a criterion to go by for the entire product; still all the late peaches shipped to date have sold for handsome prices in New-York City, Boston, Philadelphia and elsewhere. The peaches yet to be shipped to market, and consignments will probably continue to be made until the middle of November, are very choice. High prices will rule, for the Hudson River producers have few competitors in the line of this first-class fruit late in the fall.

The hue and cry raised by speculators that the great grape crop of the Hudson Valley—individual shipments of 150, 100, 75 and 50 tons respectively were not uncommon last year—would prove a total failure was groundless. It is true that in a number of districts mildew has caused havoc, in some vineyards great havoc, and such instances were carefully picked out and named, thus giving the impression that the grape crop generally was a failure. In Marlborough and in other towns along the Hudson River vineyards can be shown that look as though they had been riddled by shot and cannister, but they are the exception and by no means the rule. Early varieties have been shipped for two weeks, but the great bulk of the grape yield is composed of Concords. Sometimes avaricious growers ship fruit not fully ripened, which hurts their fellows as well as themselves. There will be less of that done, however, this fall than formerly.

Returns received from the principal grape-growing sections to-day show that at least 75 per cent. of a full yield of Concords will be gathered and shipped, provided no severe frosts occur during the latter part of this month or in October. Regular shipments of Concords may be looked for well along in November.

An effort will be made to store a portion of the product, the objective point being to supply a portion of the New-York City market and markets elsewhere during the Christmas holidays. No one need worry about the Hudson Valley grape yield. There will be fruit enough and to spare.

TO THE PUBLIC.

On February 1st, 1888, I came to Kingston a stranger, and on February 6th following, purchased the business of Silas H. Davis with the explicit understanding and solemn promise on his part that he would not at any time, while I remained in the business, engage in the same line of trade in this city. This agreement, which should be sacred, he has openly violated, compromising his honor thereby. I can only leave it to this community to render the verdict whether under existing circumstances he is worthy of their patronage.
